COTTON GROWERS HAVE PAID SAPIRO $70,200 SINCE '22

Plaintiff in Ford Libel Suit Admits He Does Not Work for Farmers Unless He Is Paid.

STILL UNDER FIRE OF SENATOR REED

Milton Sapiro Arrives With Evidence and Is Added to His Brother's Staff of Attorneys.

By the Associated Press.
DETROIT, Mich., April 4.—
Aron Sapiro testified today in his $1,000,000 libel suit against Henry Ford that he had received $70,200 from Southern cotton organizations since 1922, paid as retainers and fees through the American Cotton Growers' Exchange.

He admitted also he would refuse to serve as legal counsel for a co-operative organization which he had promoted unless he were paid for his efforts, although primarily he had the interest and welfare of the farmer at heart. That admission was made in cross-examination by Senator Reed of Missouri, chief of Ford counsel, concerning the New Jersey Poultry Association.

Sapiro's brother Milton came from California with records of fees demanded early last week by Senator Reed, and immediately was sworn in as an attorney in Aaron's suit, bringing the total of the plaintiff's counsel to five.

The session dragged at the start,
Reed occupying the time in reading an address made by Sapiro to cotton growers at Montgomery, Ala., in 1925.

Reed reading for 50 minutes,
Senator Reed took off his glasses, drank a glass of water, and addressed himself to the waiting witnesses.

"This meeting at which you made the address, to which I have just referred, was it local or were there representatives from several states?" he asked. Sapiro replied that several associations were represented.

Sapiro and Reed Clash.
"Were these associations the kind that you were advising?" "They were not marketing associations," replied Sapiro, and he and Reed were mixed in their first wrangle of the day.

Reed insisted that Sapiro's answer was not responsive and appealed to Judge Fred M. Raymond to force Sapiro to reply. The court again admonished against explanatory answers and arguments between Reed and Sapiro.

Reed sought to pin Sapiro down on a "yes" or "no" answer as to the scope and plan of the "old associations" he had addressed, asking whether they had not permitted the sale of cotton on the open market rather than confining the sales to those made through the associations.

"They were not marketing associations in any sense of the word," replied Sapiro a half dozen times.
"Give me a yes or no answer," urged Reed. "Certainly not," returned Sapiro.

Sapiro said that from Alabama he went into North Carolina in the interest of organizing cotton co-operatives.

Handling of Co-operatives.
Other associations of cotton growers were formed later in Mississippi, Oklahoma, Texas, Arizona, Georgia, South Carolina, Tennessee,
Louisiana and Missouri.

Sapiro said that only in Tennessee was a corporation formed for marketing over warehouses.
"Is it not a fact that you urged that a national association have the power of sale?" asked Reed.
"Yes, I urged it and still do," replied Sapiro. "Not the cotton growers, but these local associations refused," replied Sapiro.

The national association referred to is the American Cotton Growers' Exchange.

RIVERS WILL FALL TOMORROW IF RAIN TONIGHT IS SLIGHT

Mississippi, at Flood Stage Today, Expected to Recede — Many Roadways Are Under Water.

FARMERS REMOVE STOCK FROM ISLANDS

Armed Men Petrol Levees Threatened by Current at Thebes, Ill.—Columbus, Ky., Residents Move.

Unless the rain predicted for all of Missouri and Illinois tonight is heavy, the Mississippi, its tributaries and the lesser rivers of the two States, all of which have been flooded for several days, will be falling tomorrow. Some of them were receding slowly today, but a slight rise continued in the Mississippi. The Meramec has begun to fall.

While many roads have been inundated and many thousands of acres of bottom land covered by the various streams, no great damage has been reported. Stages have not been high enough to reach many buildings, except the summer cottage type.

This morning, the Mississippi at St. Louis was exactly at flood stage, 20 feet, but this meant only that it covered the levee. It is expected to reach a crest of 20.3 by tomorrow evening and then begin to fall. It rose .8 of a foot since yesterday. There were similar fractional rises at Alton, Grafton, Ill., and Hannibal, Mo., at each of which the river is well above flood stage.

At Louisiana, Mo., farmers have removed stock from islands in the Mississippi and work on a new highway bridge has been stopped. Armed guards are patrolling levees threatened by the high current at Thebes, Ill. Large chunks were washed from the banks at Columbus, Ky., and many thousands of residents of the Ohio river have moved their belongings, while sand bags are being used to strengthen levees. The Mississippi has backed up for several miles into the Ohio at Cairo, Ill., making the Ohio seem to flow upstream, since towns to the east reported falling stages. The Ohio at Cairo was 51.6 feet today, a rise of .8 of a foot in 24 hours, and flood stage is 45 feet.

The Missouri River is falling above Hermann, Mo., and rising slightly below there, but will be falling all along its course tomorrow. The gauge just above St. Louis was 21 feet, just flood stage, while at St. Charles it was 26.8, a rise of 3 in 24 hours, and flood stage is 25 feet. The Illinois River is about stationary today. Grafton, at its mouth, had a mark this morning of 21.7 feet, flood stage being 18, and the rise in the last day was .8 of a foot. At Pearl, 45 miles north of Grafton, the reading was 13.5 or 7.2 above flood level. Beardstown, with flood stage of 14 feet, had 20.8 today, the same as yesterday.

Greatest local interest has been in the inundation of the Meramec valley. Thousands of persons yesterday visited Valley Park, where the greatest inconvenience has been caused, and many viewed the submerged bottoms from Osage Hills and other high places. To keep the heavy motor traffic moving in Valley Park, the City Marshal and an assistant were busy all afternoon. The Meramec Station road was closed between Marshall avenue and the river bridge because it was under water for a quarter of a mile on the other side.

The crest passed Valley Park last night with a stage of 27.3 feet, which means the flood is not menacing, and this morning the gauge read 27.2. Flood level is 14. It will be some time before there is a considerable fall because of the condition of the Mississippi.

Two Post-Dispatch reporters paddled 15 miles in a canoe from Valley Park to the Lemay Ferry road, near the mouth of the Meramec, in three hours yesterday, with the aid of a current running 12 miles an hour in some places. Ordinarily, when the stream is only 100 yards or so wide and a few feet deep, this is an all-day trip.

The paddlers found at least 500 clubhouses along the normal banks flooded or surrounded by water. Those in the latter situation escaped setting because they were on high stilts, but a rise of two feet more would have swept the water into virtually every cabin. Many clubhouses owners were out in canoes yesterday salvaging furnishings. Sheriff Schuler, who has a place above Osage Hills, piled his belongings on the roof. His neighbor, Alderman Lange, propped his things well above the floor.

Few cabins were damaged, but garages, pergolas, yard lights and docks were wrecked. The second story of the Osage Country Club clubhouse was under water and the backwash reached the foundations of the Kirkwood waterworks nearby. Fish Pot Creek backed to within a yard of the Missouri Pacific Railroad tracks at Valley Park. There was only about four feet of clearance under the Frisco Railroad and old Gravois road bridges for yesterday's canoists.

ism, are beginning to feel its effects throughout the Yangtze Valley. The Germans have entirely evacuated Changsha, Province of Hunan, but because of personal molestation (but because of a Nationalist rule which prevents foreigners from carrying on business).

In Canton the Germans are still in a favored position and wear arm bands to show their nationality. Students at Tungchi College at Woosung, near Shanghai, an old German institution, have put up posters which declare hostility to all foreigners, including Germans who are educating them. These students also have proclaimed themselves against religion. The students recently strongly dissented from a German professor when he made a favorable reference to Confucianism. Asked their reason for so doing the students replied "because it teaches obedience."

Chiang's Political Move. Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek, Cantonese Generalissimo, yesterday made what is regarded as a political maneuver to strengthen his position in the Kuomintang, or People's Republic party, with whose civil wing he has been reported at odds.

The maneuver came shortly after the return from Europe of Wang Ching-wei, former chairman of the Executive Committee of the Kuomintang, who left Canton last year, ostensibly because of ill health, but really, it is believed, because of disagreement with Gen. Chiang, who objected to his radical sympathies. Wang's recall has been urged for some time by the left wingers of the Kuomintang.

After conferring with Wang, Gen. Chiang issued a circular telegram to the provinces under Nationalist control, declaring that henceforth he would confine himself to commanding the Nationalist expedition against the North, leaving the business of Government under Wang's direction. This is interpreted as a move by Chiang to strengthen his position by securing the support of Wang. Wang enjoys the respect of both factions of the Kuomintang.

Exodus of Foreigners Continues. Americans and other foreigners are leaving points in Central and Western China, province as the Cantonese continue their steady advance toward Peking from the south.

Foreign residents of Kalgan, northwest of the capital, have departed for Peking, near the Gulf of Chihli, where they can be quickly embarked in case of emergency. The exodus of foreign women and children from Peking also continues.

Americans Are Leaving Canton for Hong Kong.

CANTON, China, April 4.—A general exodus of Americans from Canton to Hong Kong is under way. The American gunboat Pangama has arrived here. A British gunboat has gone to Wuchow to protect the Britishers there.

Protests Against Nanking Outrages to Be Made in Few Days.

LONDON, April 4.—Protests by the foreign Governments over the outrages at Nanking, and demands for reparation, are expected to be lodged with the Cantonese Government in a few days. It was authoritatively stated in Downing Street this morning.

Diplomatic exchanges between Washington and London and Tokyo continued over the week-end. It remains uncertain, however, whether the demands will be made jointly or in identical notes by the three powers.

There is also some difference of opinion as to whom to address the notes, but the likeliest recipient is Eugene Chen, Cantonese Foreign Minister.

Situation at Hankow. Another crisis seems to be approaching at Hankow, Foreign Minister Chamberlain told the House of Commons today.

Advices from Nanking, sir Austen continued, showed the Nationalists to be adopting an increasingly truculent attitude toward foreigners.

MEXICAN POLICE CAPTURE SLAYERS OF E. M. WILKINS

Leader of Kidnapers Identified by Son of Murdered American Who Carried Ransom Note.

By the Associated Press. MEXICO CITY, April 4.—A majority of the band that kidnaped and murdered Edgar M. Wilkins, an American electrical engineer, are in the custody of the Mexican authorities at Guadalajara.

They were captured by the local police near there after having been sought for a week by Federal troops. Three of the men captured are said to have confessed that Wilkins was killed because the members of the band were enraged over the close pursuit.

The 10-year-old son of Wilkins, who was captured with his father, identified Mariano Calzada, one of the men taken into custody, as the leader of the kidnapers. The youth had been released by the Mexicans shortly after capture and sent back into Guadalajara with a note demanding a ransom of $2,000 for the father. From information given the authorities by Calzada they were hopeful of capturing others of the band.

Wilkins' home was in Savannah, Ga., but he had lived with his wife in Mexico for 15 years. Government officials said that the murder of the American appeared to be the result of a plot to embarrass the Government of President Calles and possibly cause trouble with the United States. Secret service men were dispatched by the Government to Guadalajara to investigate the case.

The body of Wilkins was found Friday and taken into Guadalajara, where his widow resides.

26 of Outlaw Band That Raided Train Killed by Federals

By the Associated Press. MEXICO CITY, April 4.—Twenty-six of the outlaw band which attacked the Laredo-Mexico City passenger train two weeks ago, were killed Friday in a fight with Federal forces, the War Department announced. The Federal losses were two killed and five wounded.

The fight, which lasted two hours, took place 12 miles north of Leon, Guanajuato. It is not known whether Gen. Rodolfo Gallegos, leader of the train attack, was engaged in the fight.

Six Jalisco Rebels Put to Death by Firing Squad

By the Associated Press. MEXICO CITY, April 4.—By order of a courtmartial, a firing squad at Guadalajara has executed Salvador and Ezequiel Huerta, Anacleto Gonzalez Flores, Ramon and Jorge Valdez, and Luis Padilla, according to advices received here.

Huerta brothers were charged with manufacturing ammunition for the rebels. The four others were accused of directing a rebellion in the State of Jalisco.

polished the Nanking outrages, the Foreign Minister replied: "I have no evidence to fix responsibility for the recent events at Nanking and elsewhere, but anti-foreign feeling undoubtedly has been encouraged and stimulated from Moscow."

Sir Austen was asked whether he had seen the statement of Eugene Chen, Cantonese Foreign Minister, charging that for every foreigner killed at Nanking 100 Chinese were killed in the bombardment by foreign warships. He answered: "I have seen the statement, but nothing could be further from the truth."

He added that the British Consul-General at Nanking has reported that the general belief among Chinese was that only three civilians were killed by the bombardment. It was impossible to ascertain the number of military casualties but Chian Kai-Shek, Nationalist Generalissimo, told the press that the estimated casualties among Chinese in the bombardment was six killed and 15 wounded.

Manchurian War Lord Within 100 Miles of Nationalist Advance. By the Associated Press. PEKING, April 4.—The Northern forces have captured Yencheng, says an official announcement from the headquarters of Marshal Chang Tso-lin, confederate of the Northern armies. Yencheng is on the Peking-Hankow railroad, south of Chengchow.

It was understood that the Manchurian war lord did not intend to advance farther for the present, in view of possible danger on both flanks, but would await developments near the Southern Shantung border, where Nationalists were advancing northward against Gen. Chang Tsun-chang.

If the report of the capture of Yencheng is true, means that Chang Tso-lin's forces are within 200 miles of Hankow and 100 miles of the Nationalist advance guard in Southern Honan.

U. S. Business Men in Shanghai Call on Powers to Restore Order

Chamber of Commerce Statement Says Policy of Conciliation Merely Strengthens Lawless and Encourages Outrages.

By the Associated Press. SHANGHAI, April 4.—The American Chamber of Commerce in Shanghai in a statement calls for concerted action by the Powers to restore order in China. It declares that militarism, brigandage and bolshevism have destroyed all semblance of law and order in the greater part of China and that joint action would have a far-reaching influence throughout the country and be of ultimate benefit to the Chinese themselves.

The statement says: "Militarism, brigandage and bolshevism have destroyed all semblance of law and order in the greater part of China and have brought about a state of lawlessness and property, both of Chinese and foreigners, are in constant danger from mob violence, military terrorism and unrestrained individual criminals."

"The concerted assurance of militarists and other spokesmen of political factions that they can and will protect life and property are irreconcilable with recent events resulting from the evacuation of the interior districts. We are convinced that the future welfare of the Chinese and the ultimate safety of Americans and other foreigners can be attained only by unified action of the Powers to suppress disorder and restore conditions favorable to the formation of a responsible Government."

"We believe that immediate, concerted action of the Powers to restore the security of foreign lives and property at the treaty ports and to recover all foreign properties destroyed or confiscated will have a far-reaching influence throughout China and be of ultimate benefit to the Chinese. This result should not be difficult with the naval force, now in Chinese waters."

"In our opinion the future peace of the world and the welfare of the Chinese people would best be served by the maintenance of the alignment of Powers established by the substitute Washington treaties and their co-operation in the service pledged to China during the Washington conference."

Lawless Elements Encouraged

"The adoption of a conciliatory policy by foreign Governments has merely strengthened the lawless elements and encouraged outrages like that at Nanking."

"We strongly indorse the decision of the United States Government to take adequate measures for the protection of United States lives and property as evidenced by the landing of Marines at Shanghai and the announcement that additional forces were en route. It must be borne in mind, however, that through unscrupulous propaganda

ALDERMANIC COMMITTEE FAILS TO REPORT BRIDGE BILLS

Possibility for Action at Present Session of Board Disappears at Final Meeting.

Prediction that Municipal Bridge legislation pending in the Public Utilities Committee of the Board of Aldermen would die with the current Aldermanic session became a certainty today when the committee held its final meeting and failed to report out any of the bridge bills. The Board will adjourn next Friday.

The bills, which died for lack of action, were the one recommended by the Citizens' Terminals Committee for the exchange of lands of the Municipal and East Bridges, Alderman Rieffling's bill for the creation of a commission to operate the bridge, and the resolution submitted for Glendy B. Arnold, attorney for the Citizens' Committee, which provided that the difference between the railroad and the city as to a charge for use of the Free Bridge, be submitted to the Secretary of War for decision.

Alderman Edward Wiebe, chairman of the utilities committee, announced there would be no further meetings.

40 CANDIDATES SEEK ELECTION AT POLLS TOMORROW

Places to Be Filled Include President of Board and 14 Aldermen, Four Members of the School Board.

Six thousand city employees will get their usual statutory holiday tomorrow for the aldermanic and School Board election. Polling places will be open from 8 a. m. to 7 p. m.

The off-year city election, held in the middle of the Mayor's four-year term, is normally the low-water mark of political interest. In this election four years ago, the total vote cast was 72,533, or 23.5 per cent of the registration, which was 257,292. The present registration is 256,624.

In the 1923 election, the Republican candidates for Aldermen won by majorities of 42,000 to 45,000. Walter J. G. Neun was then elected President of the Board over Dwight D. Currie, Democrat. Neun is running for re-election tomorrow, opposed by F. J. Curran, Democrat.

Aldermen for the 14 even-numbered wards, Second to Twenty-eighth, are to be elected tomorrow all by city-wide vote. Of the Democratic candidates, the only ones who have made an active campaign are the two women, Mrs. W. R. Wilkinson in the Twenty-fourth Ward and Miss Lora Otto in the Twenty-eighth. Mrs. Wilkinson is running against Chauncey J. Krueser, Republican, and Miss Otto against Herman Waldman, Republican.

Voting is by the circle, square and crossmark system, explained on the ballot. Names are not to be scratched, as is done in primary elections.

In voting for candidates for the Board of Education, whose names appear on a separate ticket, the voter is to crossmark not more than four of the 16. The four endorsed by the Citizens' School Board Committee are Eleanor D. Horton, Myrt A. Rollins, Dr. David C. Todd and Arthur S. Weremeyer. Another section of the ballot contains seven proposed charter

NOTICE TO ELECTION JUDGES AND CLERKS

THE Board of Election Commissioners today issued these instructions for election officials:

The police officers stationed at all the polling places have been supplied with blanks on which the returns should be copied as soon as they are completed. These blanks should be signed by the judges and turned over to the police officers for prompt delivery.

Church Organizations Working for Citizens' School Board Ticket

The Council of Catholic Women and the Council of Jewish Women are working for the success of the ticket of four candidates endorsed by the Citizens' School Board Committee in tomorrow's election. The candidates are Miss Horton, Dr. Todd, Rollins and Weremeyer.

A committee of Protestant ministers last week sent a letter to pastors throughout the city, endorsing the Citizens' School Board Committee ticket. The signers of the letter were the Rev. Dr. R. H. Stafford of Pilgrim Congregational Church, president of the Church Federation; Dr. John W. MacVicar of Second Presbyterian Church, Dr. Ivan Lee Holt of St. John's Methodist Church, the Rev. C. E. Lemmon of Hamilton Avenue Christian Church, the Rev. J. P. Meyer of Bethel Evangelical Church, and Dr. A. H. Armstrong, executive secretary of the Church Federation.

Stephen M. Wagner, president of the Board of Education, and candidate for re-election as a member of the board, yesterday took issue with the Citizens' School Board Committee for its statement that "something is wrong" with the St. Louis school system. He gave figures to show the increase, since he entered the board in 1915, in its annual building expenditures, in teachers' salaries and in facilities of instruction. "The promise of still greater achievements is before us," he said, "and will be realized if the board is permitted to develop its policies systematically, unhindered by professional uplifters."

Wire-Haired Fox Terrier Wins First Dog Show Prize

Benson Show Girl, for Which Owners Refuse $2000, Is Popular Choice of Judges and the Crowd.

Not by a small margin was Benson Show Girl, a wire-haired fox terrier, voted the best dog in the Dog Show at the Coliseum last night, but by momentous superlatives of the flesh and spirit, which moved men to excited applause and women to dog-kissing fervor.

Benson Show Girl's triumph, her admirers pointed out, with solemn reverence, demonstrates what a dog with few advantages in life can do if it carries its tail up all the time and looks consistently perky in the ring. Happiest in the crowd last night was Mrs. W. D. Wilkinson, who owns Benson Show Girl and who spent at least 100 hours combing Benson Show Girl's coat to get it into the tight, close-packed condition demanded by the standards for wire-haired terriers.

The material result of Benson Show Girl's achievement is that Mrs. Wilkinson and her husband have a big silver cup to adorn their trophy room at Ferguson and last night refused an offer of $2000 for their dog. They bought Benson Show Girl at Philadelphia three months ago for very, very much less than $2000.

Judges' Choice Popular.

None in the hundreds who watched the grand finale of the Mississippi Valley Kennel Club show seemed to doubt that Benson Show Girl would vanquish all competitors. There was a Boston terrier called The Painted Lady, a wolfhound named Nicholas II and a Beagle named The Great Dane, and Cairnchu Tit Bit, the Pomeranian, but each met with tragedy.

"The Boston quit showing," Alf Delmont, one of the judges explained. "She put her ears back and was listless. Her shoulders weren't as smooth as the fox terrier's. The Pomeranian is a fine little dog, but not carrying enough coat to win. Had its coat been heavier and had it carried more plume on its tail we would have placed this dog first."

"The wolfhound was a nice dog. It arched nicely and had good tight pads. But its toenails needed trimming and it should have been a little freer mover in the rear to win. The Great Dane was a fine, fine standing dog, but weak in the face. A bad face. The Great Dane's face should present a square, blocky appearance. This dog's face sagged in front of the eyes and the straight line of the cheeks was spoiled. Had

SEEK TO INDICT PAIR FOR ABUSE OF CHILD

New York Society Plans Prosecution of Well-to-Do Foster Parents.

NEW YORK, April 4.—An indictment charging cruelty to their 6-year-old adopted daughter, Roberta, will be sought through District Attorney Banton at once against Mr. and Mrs. Everett S. Pratt of Des Moines, Ia., according to Ernest K. Coulter of the Children's Society. Coulter informed Justice William Young in Children's Court of his intended conference with Banton when the case came up for hearing today and was postponed until April 12 on motion of John O'Hara, attorney for the Des Moines pair. Mr. and Mrs. Pratt were not in court.

An agent from Des Moines is expected here soon in connection with reports from Des Moines that the child was not formally adopted by the Pratts, who are well-to-do. Numerous bruises and bruises were said to have been found upon her body and the child is said to have told investigators they were inflicted by her mother.

The child stood with her hand entwined in hat of a woman agent of the Children's Society in court today. She did not miss a word of the brief legal proceedings and amended the minutes when Coulter referred to her as Roberta Pratt.

"Roberta Jane," she corrected. "Accompanied by Vincent Pizzaro, superintendent, and others of the Children's Society, Roberta appeared later before Banton. After listening to her recital Banton told reporters he would proceed cautiously in the matter until corroboration of the child's story shall have been obtained by the Children's Society agents. The bruises on the child's body, Banton said, might have resulted from "hard playing," and as to the wounds pointed to as burns, he said: "I couldn't say they were burns, but then I'm a layman."

Mrs. Pratt denied maltreating the child and said the burns were accidental. The Pratts adopted the child two years ago, but the understanding is that legal formalities never were fully completed.

Mr. and Mrs. Pratt yesterday visited the girl and took her toys and candy. They were warned in advance not to discuss the charges with her or attempt to persuade her in any way. They refused to comment on the telegram from Des Moines, but indicated they would fight for custody of the child.

Roberta is said to have received her foster father with affection, but was not so cordial to Mrs. Pratt.

"I want to stay with my daddy," she later said to reporters. "I was so glad to see him. I love my daddy." Then, a moment later, she added, "I like my mother, too."

Roberta showed reporters two of the burns. She said they were inflicted with a curling iron by her mother because she "stepped into the halls and downstairs at the hotel."

PASTOR PLANS SUNRISE SERVICE FOR EASTER

Dr. E. S. Travers Proposes Meeting for All Churches in Forest Park.

Plans for an Easter sunrise service in Forest Park, Sunday morning, April 17, are being made by the Rev. Dr. E. S. Travers, rector of St. Peter's Episcopal Church.

The full-page article printed in yesterday's Post-Dispatch magazine, telling of the Easter morning services held in the Hollywood Bowl, in California, gave Dr. Travers the idea of a similar outdoor observance for St. Louis. He went to City Hall today, to consult Park Department officials as to a suitable location for the sunrise meeting, and obtained permission for use of the park.

"I wish the suggestion had been made sooner," Dr. Travers said to a Post-Dispatch reporter, "but I feel that we should make a beginning this year, when Easter comes later than usual, and when there is at least an even chance of having favorable weather for an outdoor gathering."

"I shall take my choir out to some suitable place in the park, and I will have a service. It will not be a St. Peter's Church affair, or an Episcopal affair. It would welcome co-operation of ministers and people of all churches. It is my plan to conduct the service in a way that will be as nearly as possible free of expense, and to take up no collection of funds."

"Such a service should not have a sectarian character. It should be for people of all churches and no church. Easter is the day that symbolizes new life, and the service should carry a message for the man or the woman who is tired of the old way of life, and is seeking a new and a better way. The custom at Hollywood of reciting Henry Van Dyke's poem, 'God of the Open Air,' is a beautiful one, and I will hope to make it a part of the service."

The place most readily available for such a service is the Municipal Theater. It holds about 9500 persons. In the Hollywood Bowl, a much larger number gathers annually. The Art Hill natural amphitheater, used for the Pageant and Masque of 1914, has an almost unlimited seating capacity, but requires some sort of a stage near the lagoon at the foot of the hill, and for a preaching service would require installation of loud speakers.

32 GALLONS OF ALCOHOL SEIZED IN AUTO ON BRIDGE

Driver, a Salesman, Says He Was Conveying 5-Year Personal Supply From Illinois.

John M. Ford, 38 years old, a salesman living at 3666 Kingshighway Park, yesterday attempted to bring from Illinois a supply of liquor that would last him five years, according to the story he told police.

Detectives Benken and Steloff stopped Ford's sedan about 4:30 p. m. at the St. Louis end of the Free Bridge. Ford was at the wheel and his brother, Lewis, of 2655 California avenue, was with him in the front seat. Benken, searching the rear of the car, found 32 gallons of alcohol, in four five-gallon cans, one 10-gallon capacity and two one-gal jugs, all of which Ford insisted was for his own consumption.

"I got tired making these trips every month or two, so I decided to buy enough alcohol to keep me supplied for five years," was his explanation.

500-POUND THEATER SAFE MOVED AND LOOTED OF $660

Robbers Apparently Hid in the Wellston and Waited to Work at Their Leisure.

Safe robbers, who apparently hid last night in the Wellston Theater, 6228 Easton avenue, when the last show ended at 11:45 o'clock, rolled a 500-pound safe from the front office, through the auditorium to a room under the stage, where the combination was battered off. When the robbery was discovered at 7 a. m. today, the manager, Maurice Spahl, said $660, the weekend receipts, had been stolen.

The safe at Normandy High School, 6701 Easton avenue, where $360 was stolen on March 23, was broken open again last night and looted of about $5 in change. The robbers entered the building apparently with a skeleton key and forced the door of the superintendent's office.

BOY'S HANDS AND LIPS TURN BLUE FROM SHOE DYSE

Milton Becker Is Eighth Victim Treated at City Hospital in Six Months.

Milton Becker, 14 years old, of 5121 Wicklow place, was treated at City Hospital yesterday for "shoe-dyse" caused by wearing a pair of newly dyed shoes.

The boy was taken to the hospital when his parents observed his lips and hands turning blue and he complained of nausea. They would not consent to their son remaining at the hospital and took him home after he had been treated.

This is the eighth case of the kind reported at City Hospital in six months, despite warnings of physicians against wearing newly dyed shoes. The poisoning results from the absorption of aniline, or cyanol, into the blood stream through the feet.

FIGHTS OFF ROBBERS WITH THEIR REVOLVER

L. G. Jude Snatches Weapon From Captor and Opens Fire When Pair Flees.

Sitting between two robbers in his automobile at 12:30 a. m. today, Lawrence G. Jude, 31 years old of 4816 Greer avenue, snatched a revolver from one of his captors and chased them away, firing several shots at them with their own weapon as they fled.

Life 32, of the Plaza Hotel, and a young woman, sitting in the automobile with Miss Lucille Mehar of 4857A Farlin avenue, in front of her home, when the robbers drew up in another machine and stepped on the running board. Ordering "Miss Mehar to the rear seat, they crowded in beside Jude, and while one man pointed a revolver at him the other drove to the 4300 block on North Taylor avenue.

The robbers had taken $10 from his pockets and were demanding more when Jude saw his chance and snatched the revolver. The robbers fled and Jude opened fire. One of the men stumbled and fell for a moment as if wounded, then both disappeared through an alleyway.

In front of Miss Mehar's home, police found an automobile stolen an hour before from Clarence W. Pate, 32, of the Plaza Hotel. Pate and a young woman, sitting in the machine near 4200 Holly avenue, had been held up by two men, who took them to Pine Lawn, in St. Louis County, where they surrendered $23 and the automobile.

"You have used it correctly any number of times," said Sapiro to Reed. "I particularly dislike Sap-ey-ro; there is no such name. I prefer Sap-ey-ro."

"Very well, sir. I beg your pardon," apologized the Senator.

Last night Ford was reported progressing normally toward complete recovery. He was wanted as the near witness after Sapiro and there was much doubt as to the probable trend of the case should he be unable to appear upon completion of the cross-examination of Sapiro probably late this week or early next week.

William Henry Gallagher, chief of counsel for Sapiro reiterated his intention to demand Ford as the next witness after the conclusion of the cross-examination of his client.

ST. LOUIS SLAYER KILLED IN DETROIT HOLDUP BY POLICE

Officer Who Drops Into Michigan Saloon Shoots Robber to Death and Captures His Companions.

Forrest Fuqua, 24-year-old ex-convict, wanted for the murder of Louis Reisinger, 20, at a St. Louis County roadhouse March 21, was killed by a policeman during a holdup in Detroit yesterday.

His confederate, Joseph Rynkowski, and two women friends, Catherine Dureham, alias Bates, and Evelyn Landever, are under arrest in Detroit. According to police, Miss Dureham has confessed that Fuqua shot and killed Reisinger, in the presence of herself and Rynkowski.

Reisinger was a plasterer and lived at 4515A San Francisco avenue. As has been told, he and his friends, Mrs. Viola Creely and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Shields, were leaving the Silver Heel Inn, Bellefontaine and St. Cyr roads, when Mrs. Shields aroused the anger of two intoxicated young men by talking to a woman with them. They profanely accused her of meddling and were ejected from the roadhouse when Reisinger resented the profanity. As Reisinger walked out of the roadhouse one of the men shot him through the heart. The men then stole an automobile and sped into St. Louis, eluding police in a six-mile chase. Their woman companion escaped alone.

No Escape in Detroit. — There was no escape yesterday when Fuqua and Rynkowski held up a West Side saloon in Detroit. A policeman happened into the place, shot Fuqua to death and arrested Rynkowski, later rounding up the two women.

Fuqua and Rynkowski were identified as the robbers who held up the Detroit Musicians' Club a week ago, taking $400 from patrons, beating a policeman and an ex-officer and forcing the patrons to dance, march, play parlor games and pose for imaginary photographs over a four-hour period.

Fuqua, known also as George Anderson, was acquitted of a robbery charge in Detroit recently. He had been arrested 26 times here. His criminal career began at the age of 15 when he was arrested in St. Louis, Oklahoma City and Bartlesville, Ok., for petty thefts. He was sent to Boonville Reformatory for a two-year term for larceny in 1921 and to the Missouri Penitentiary for a four-year term for burglary in 1924, being released July 27, 1926, with time off for good behavior.

Rynkowski, 20 years old, had been arrested several times. He said he lived at 2235 Howard street, and sometimes used an alias, Jack Howard. He escaped from the House of Detention in August, 1923, after he had been sentenced to four years in Boonville Reformatory for robbery. Rearrested here last Feb. 24, police sought to send him to Boonville, but the papers committing him to that institution had been lost or destroyed, and he was paroled on recommendation of Circuit Judge Taylor.

Will Seek Murder Warrant. — Warrants charging murder and assault to kill will be applied for at Clayton in an effort to have him taken there for trial in the Reisinger case. Detroit police have indicated they would hold him there unless the case here is strong.

Witnesses in the Reisinger case identified a Bertillon photograph of Fuqua as that of the man who shot Reisinger, and a photograph of Rynkowski as that of the slayer's companion who fired a wild shot at Shields, Reisinger's companion.

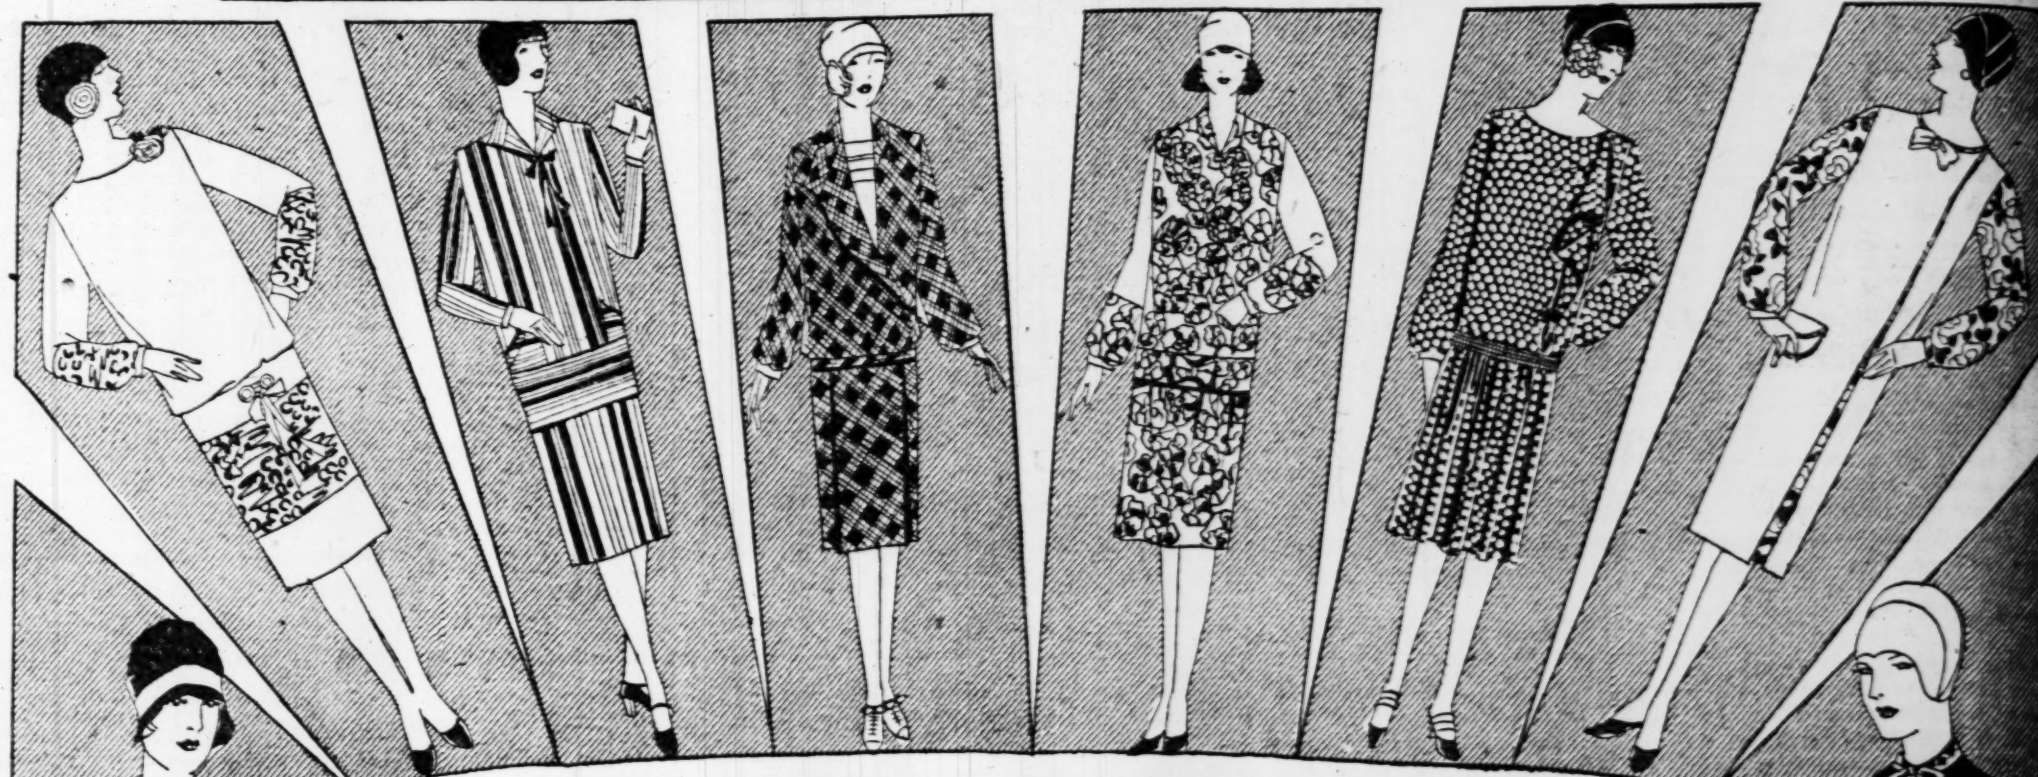

The identifications were made on March 25, four days after the murder. Police immediately raided Fuqua's home at 2443 1/2 Main avenue, but he had left the city, as had Rynkowski.

Police learned that Fuqua, Rynkowski, a third man known as "Doggie," Miss Dureham, Mrs. Landever and a third woman known as "Virginia" had gone from the Fuqua residence to the Silver Heel in a few hours before Reisinger was killed and had returned to the Fuqua home after the killing. They departed for Detroit in three relays—Fuqua and "Doggie" on the morning of March 23, and the others that afternoon and the following day. One sent a telegram to a St. Louis friend, announcing "Arrived safely."

Code Messages Broadcast Turn on Lights in Set Carried by Aviator.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Capt. Paul S. Edwards, commanding the Signal Corps Aircraft Radio Laboratory at McCook Field, Dayton, O., has produced apparatus which, by Morse telegraph code, keeps aviators constantly aware of their course. It makes possible the mechanical sending and receiving of prearranged visual radio signals consisting of numbers.

The ground station sending equipment consists of a dial with number combinations ranging from 00 to 99, which operates a radio transmitter. When a code number is dialed the transmitter broadcasts corresponding signals which are picked up by the aviator's receiving set. The signals actuate a number of relays in the set which flash a small light behind the same number on the call board.

Use of the numbers permits a code of 100 different words or messages to be automatically transmitted from ground to plane. With two-way communication established the system is believed to have considerable value in observation and reporting of artillery fire.

ALL AIR MAIL UNDER PRIVATE CONTRACT

Postoffice Awards Chicago-New York Route at $1.24 a Pound.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, April 4.—The Postoffice Department has relinquished to private enterprise the last link of the air mail system.

A contract has been awarded the National Air Transport, Inc., of Chicago, for the New York-Chicago section of the transcontinental service, the last unit remaining under Government control.

For sometime the department has been desirous of turning over to private interests that phase of its mail activities so that it would have air mail transportation of a footing similar to that carried by the railroads.

"Considering all the attendant facts, it was decided," Postmaster-General New said in making the announcement, "that the National Air Transport was the lowest and best responsible bidder and the contract was awarded on its bid of $1.24 per pound. The transfer of this service will become effective July 1."

The figure is one cent above the bid submitted by the North American Airways. The latter bid, however, was protested by Paul Henderson, a former Assistant Postmaster-General, and now general manager of the National Air Transport, on the ground that Government mail employees and a number of pilots were alleged to have agreed to subscribe to $100,000 in stock in the North American Airways, if that company obtained the contract.

BUSINESS MEN WANT DOCK AT RUTGER STREET SAVED

Protest Against Alterations to Make It Useful for Garbage Disposal Plant.

Protest against any alterations of the Rutgers street dock to make it useful as a garbage disposal utility and impair its usefulness for river shipping of freight has been sent to the city by the Business Men's Association of South St. Louis.

The dock was built by the Federal Government, at the request of South St. Louis industry, to give shipping facilities which the remote North Market street dock did not provide.

The Government River Service never has seen fit to use the dock. The South St. Louis business men, however, now see a great impetus to river shipping because of an aroused sentiment in the Middle West and want the dock preserved until such time as the barge fleet finds it useful.

Accused of $190,000 Embezzlement

By the Associated Press. PEORIA, Ill., April 4.—Officials of Thawell County will go to Albany, N. Y., with extradition papers for the return of John Hawkenson, alias Edward Swanson, wanted in connection with the embezzlement of $190,000. Swanson was indicted at Peoria in 1925, but news of the indictment was suppressed. He is charged with conspiracy in connection with the embezzlement of money from Fond du Lac State Bank of East Peoria, for which John F. Speers, former cashier, is serving a term in the penitentiary, following his plea of guilty. Swanson borrowed upwards of $120,000 from the bank on unstable securities, officials charge.

FUGITIVE PROMOTER RETURNED FOR TRIAL

J. M. Skala Denies Resorting to Confidence Game in Sale of Lots.

John M. Skala, St. Louis realty dealer, who was indicted in St. Clair County more than a year ago for an alleged confidence game in the sale of lots in the Alta Sita district of East St. Louis, was brought back to East St. Louis last night from Newark, N. J., where he was arrested 10 days ago.

To a Post-Dispatch reporter Skala today denied the charge of purchasers of property who said he had told them Henry Ford was to build a $28,000,000 glass factory near the subdivision. He admitted his salesmen had told prospects that Skala would help them find jobs, but declared he meant to find them in another factory not far from the subdivision.

Explaining his possession of a St. Louis County Deputy Sheriff's badge, Skala said he was commissioned a deputy after giving $1000 to a man who represented himself as campaign manager for Al Williams, now Sheriff. He explained that the commission enabled him to legally carry a pistol when he was in possession of large sums of money.

When the trial of Skala and Mrs. Barbara Matta, indicted with him on the same charge, was called at Belleville in January, 1926, neither appeared, and their bonds, totaling $4000, were forfeited. Skala said today he had expected his attorney to get a continuance and had no intention of jumping bond.

COAL STRIKE CONFERENCE WILL BE HELD IN ST. LOUIS

Operators and Union Officers to Meet Friday, With Other Peace Moves Contemplated.

CHICAGO, April 4.—Sporadic moves for peace marked the opening of a new week in the coal mining controversy which brought idleness to more than 100,000 men when the Jacksonville wage pact expired last Thursday.

Illinois operators and union officers will meet at St. Louis Friday, while a conference for Indiana has been called for Terre Haute Thursday, to include all strip mines in the State. Gov. John Hammill of Iowa said he hoped to make some headway within six days after announcing he would ask both sides to meet with the Iowa Industrial and Agricultural Commission.

A number of smaller mines in the central competitive field resumed operations today under temporary agreements, pending final settlement of the controversy. Two small mines in the Eastern Ohio sub-district were the latest added to the temporary ranks.

MEN OPPOSING WOMEN IN MAPLEWOOD SCHOOL ELECTION
Fathers Seeking to Replace Mothers in District Which Includes Richmond Heights.
Maplewood and Richmond Heights women are broadening the slogan, "What we have, we hold." in the Maplewood School Board campaign, wherein tomorrow's election will determine whether two women members will retain office or be replaced by men.
Men lost two places on the board
six years ago. In the next election, 1927, they did not even try to retain them, but this year J. E. Martin of Richmond Heights, which is included in the Maplewood school district, and J. L. Lutes of Maplewood, are running.
The first woman to become head of a Missouri school board was Mrs. Amy L. Stillman of Hampton Park, who was elected six years ago and is running for re-election. Her teammate is Mrs. Willard D. Smith of Maplewood, incumbent secretary, who defeated another woman—no man tried for the place—three years ago.
Women contend that as mothers they take a more active interest in school affairs. They point to the inauguration of kindergarten departments in all five grammar schools and of a Junior High School, completed in January. Both women candidates are mothers. On the other hand, both their masculine opponents are fathers.
MATRIMONY, AS INSTITUTION, STANDS UP UNDER ATTACKS
Social Hygiene Secretary Discounts Critics Who Generalize on Individual Experiences.
Countless thousands of persons, pose as experts on the subject of matrimony, but none rightly can claim such a title, Charles E. Miner, executive secretary of the Missouri Social Hygiene Association, said yesterday in a lecture at the Washington University Medical School auditorium, under auspices of the Education Committee of the association.
The difficulty is that one person may attempt to generalize for the entire field of matrimony on the basis of his own experiences, Miner said, and thus his conclusions become absurd.
A host of differing opinions give the impression that something is wrong "with the ancient institution," Miner said, but "there seems to be little evidence that civilization is in any great danger of crumbling under present attacks on marriage married or single, are willing to than it was under previous ones."

Now Grows Hair On Those Thin Spots

New method rejuvenates dormant hair roots or you pay nothing

Proves 91% of falling hair and baldness largely unnecessary—new head of hair now in 90 days

MODERN scientific research has recently disproved many favored, old theories on hair growing. That new hair can actually be grown almost 70% of the time is the astonishing pronouncement today of numerous men of science.

Thoroughly new and revolutionary discoveries have been made. A method discovered which does what old-day science considered largely impossible. This method was tried out, during the last three years, in something over 200,000 cases, and records of results carefully kept. 70 times in 100, according to those records, results were successful.

Results guaranteed in writing. It is called the Van Ess Liquid Scalp Massage. You use it at home—a few quick rubs over the scalp night or morning—that is all. It is different from any other home method known. It is protected by U. S. patents. It does what no other method does or has ever done.

That is, it massages tremendously active root-rejuvenating and germ-combating elements DIRECTLY TO THE ROOTS

NO STATE TROOPS TO BE ON GUARD AT POLLS IN CHICAGO

Illinois Adjutant-General and Cook County Sheriff Decide They Won't Be Needed.

By the Associated Press.
 CHICAGO, April 4.—State troops will not be called out to patrol the voting places in tomorrow's election. Adjutant-General Carlisle Black, Major-General Roy D. Kohn, commanding the Illinois National Guard, and Sheriff Charles E. Graydon, agreed today that the guardsmen would not be needed.

Sheriff Graydon asked Gov. Small Saturday to hold himself in readiness to receive a call for troops because of what Graydon termed a serious situation. He charged that partisans of Mayor William E. Dever, Democratic candidate for re-election, were attempting to start a race riot to injure the candidacy of former Mayor William Hale Thompson, Republican.

Police Ready for Trouble.
 Meanwhile police preparations for guarding against fraud at the election were being completed. Acting on information that countless thousands of judges and clerks were expected in certain wards, Chief of Police Morgan Collins called in Captains in charge of the trouble zones to outline plans to combat violence.

The first clash came last night when State Representative Lawrence O'Brien, head of a ward Democratic club, declared that a Thompson worker had threatened him with a pistol. William Damm was arrested and subsequently released. O'Brien later received telephone threats that he would be "knocked off" and his home bombed. A police guard was placed about his home.

"The situation is very tense," said Sheriff Graydon, when informed of the incident. "The city is on edge. I expect no trouble from the Negro wards. It is in other districts that violence, if any, will occur."

Fighting to the Finish.
 There was no over-Sunday lull in Chicago's bitterest political campaign. A majority campaign is closed on the Saturday or Sunday night before the voting but this time it is being continued until the votes are cast. With prospects that a million votes will be cast, both of the principal candidates made predictions of victory by 150,000 votes. The third aspirant, John Dill Robertson, independent Republican, was just as confident he would win.

A petition for an injunction to restrain the police from interfering with Republican precinct workers was filed today. An injunction was denied by Judge Ebel, but let the petition remain on file. About the same time a special grand jury was sworn in as a result of a petition by the Democratic City Central Committee, and turned over to Charles Center Case, special prosecutor, to investigate election and distribution frauds.

ALL RESTRICTS CORONERS
ACTING AS FUNERAL DIRECTORS
 App of St. Louis County to Give Undertaking Work to Son; Measure Introduced by Woman

Coroner Bopp of St. Louis County is not worried by the bill prohibiting Coroners from acting as funeral directors, except in counties where there are no undertakers, passed by the Legislature. The measure was introduced by Miss Emma Knell of Carthage, herself an undertaker.

"That's easy," Bopp said, "my son will act as the funeral director. Anyway, I think they passed the bill simply as a mark of courtesy to Miss Knell."

Considerable dissatisfaction has been expressed in counties where the Coroner is an undertaker, with the law permitting him to send the body to any undertaker he sees fit. In such instances, sends the body to his own place, thus obtaining money from handling the funeral as well as the usual fees from the State for his duties as Coroner. Bopp has an undertaking establishment at Kirkwood.

Blossom, insurance man and church musical leader, and the brother of the late Henry Blossom, celebrated librettist. He was 70 years old.

Two sisters, Mrs. Tom C. Kimmer and Miss Susie Blossom who are in California, survive. During their absence Mr. Blossom was living at the Congress Hotel. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

MAYORALTY VOTE IN EAST ST. LOUIS TO BREAK RECORDS

Registration Reaches Highest Total in City's History, With Doyle and Harris Workers Active.

A heavy vote is expected tomorrow in the city election in East St.
Louis, when a Mayor and four City Commissioners, who form the City Council under the commission form of government, will be chosen for a term of four years.

Registration reached the highest total of any city election, with 26-524 qualified names recorded. Active canvassing by political workers is responsible for the registration of 229 voters since the primary on Feb. 22. Of this number 2000 were Negroes. Most of this solicitation is attributed to the Republican machine of Edward E. Miller and Fred Gerold, political leaders, who are supporting Frank Doyle, president of the Home Ice Cream and Ice Co., for Mayor, although the organization of M. L. Harris (Dem.), and Doyle's opponent, have also been active in soliciting votes in the Negro precincts. As a result a large Negro vote, which carries considerable balance of power in the city, is expected.

The campaign has been free of issues, candidates referring to their records and pledges for support.
Harris, twice before defeated for the nomination as Mayor, is a former member of the St. Clair County board of supervisors, and served as president of the East St.
Louis Library Board and East St.
Louis Real Estate Exchange. He is director of the Board of Progress, president of the Northwest Territory Acquisition Commission, is active in civic clubs and has served as potentate in the Masonic lodges.

Tarleton's Brother-in-Law.
Harris is a brother-in-law of G.
Locke Tarleton, former president of the levee board, who is financially interested in three contracting companies which have been awarded all asphalt paving contracts except one in East St. Louis in the last three years at prices in excess of that material in St.
Louis.

Harris was owner of a tract of ground purchased by the levee board four years ago at a cost of more than $100,000 for the right-of-way of the "Baby Panama" drainage canal. It was disclosed at the time of the sale that the land had been previously offered at $40,000.

Doyle came to East St. Louis in 1913 and points to his business career, during which he developed the concern he now heads, as an "insurance policy" to an "honest business administration of city affairs." He has been active in civic and charitable movements.

There are eight candidates for Commissioner. John T. Connors, Democrat, has served four years as Commissioner of Health and Public Property. He has been instrumental in the passage of beneficial health measures and successfully fought a smallpox epidemic two years ago. Until recently he voted in favor of asphalt ordinances. He is making an independent campaign.

Ralph Cook, Democrat, has served four years as Commissioner of Streets and Sewers. Opposition to his re-election is centered in neighborhood improvement associations who have opposed asphalt resurfacing at a price 86 cents a square yard higher than in St.
Louis. Cook, an attorney, has followed the custom of predecessors in office of receiving bids on one type of paving, no alternate bids being provided in the ordinance.

John J. Hallihan, Democrat, has served as City Clerk for eight years and as Deputy Clerk two years. He offers his experience as his qualification, promises freedom from party politics and pledges his aid in obtaining for taxpayers a voice in choice of street improvements.
He is running independently.

Justice of Peace Running.
Albert P. Lauman, Republican, was elected Justice of the Peace two years ago. He served two terms as a Deputy Sheriff of St.
Clair County and was later employed in the State Department of Trade and Commerce at East St.
Louis.

Robert F. Miller, Republican, a former service man, has never been a candidate for office before. He is an accountant at the American Steel Foundry in East St. Louis.
Sidney W. Rine, Republican, is cashier of the Union Trust Co., East St. Louis, and has served nine years as a member of the Board of Education.

M. J. Whalen, Democrat, has served as City Commissioner for eight years. He has been head of local labor organizations and is a vice president of the Illinois State Federation of Labor. In his last term of office he led the fight on high-priced paving ordinances, voting consistently with the minority.
He led the opposition and brought to a successful referendum a proposition which would have exempted the street car company from paying between its tracks and placed this cost on the property owner.
He led opposition to other unpopular measures.

Herman E. Zierrath, Republican, is sales manager of an automobile agency. He has been active in city and county politics and was unsuccessful candidate for nomination as Sheriff.

A Police Magistrate, a Constable, a Park Commissioner and 14 members of the County Board of Supervisors also will be elected.
Polls will be open from 6 a. m. to 4 p. m.

No party names appear on the ballots except for County Supervisors and Constable. Voters may vote for four Commissioners and 14 Supervisors, but for all other offices, not more than once. To vote a party ticket for Supervisor, voters may mark a cross in the circle at the head of the ticket. For a split ticket and for other candidates, they may mark a cross in the square before the name of the candidate. It is not necessary to scratch any name.

Four Parties in the Field for Belleville Election.

With four parties in the field,
the municipal election in Belleville tomorrow promises to be one of the most spirited in 10 years. The campaign, which has been on for a month, indicates that party workers will be on the job from the opening of to the close of the polls and that the largest vote in years will be registered. Mayor Joseph J. Anton seeks re-election on the Independent Party No. 1 ticket.
The candidates running with him
are City Clerk, E. J. Eisenhauer;
City Treasurer, Charles Stogmeyer; Aldermen, Stanley E. Sprague, Charles Kraus, Arthur Wright, George Thompson, Rudolph Vollmer, Philip Meister and Irwin Gauch; Supervisors, George Keller,

Embossed Linoleum?

"A great idea," said decorators last year
"NOW"

Armstrong's Embossed
Inlaid No. 6018

... carry it further."
So today Armstrong presents new designs, richer colorings in a variety of embossed patterns ... floors modeled in actual relief.

Armstrong's
Embossed
Inlaid
No. 6018

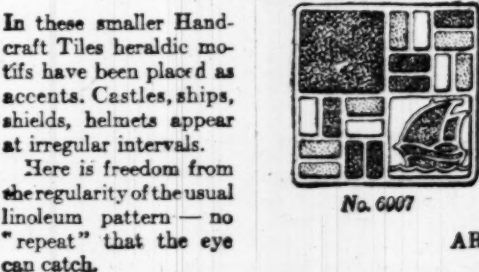

YOUR floors are always pleasing in design and color. Now give us a floor with texture."

A year ago Armstrong met this request of decorators and architects with a new achievement in linoleum design—Embossed Inlaid Linoleum.

Here, instead of the usual smooth surface, were designs patterned in natural relief; each tile framed by a mortar line actually pressed below the surface of the linoleum. Now you can have Embossed Inlaid Linoleum in a wide variety of Armstrong Floors—figured designs and plain-color linoleum, as well as large quarry tiles, colorful ashlar tiles, small hand-craft patterns in bright colorings.

Local furniture, department, and linoleum stores are now displaying these and many other new Armstrong Floor ideas—Jaspé Linoleum Rugs, marbled tiles of a single-color linoleum, Armstrong's Arabesq Linoleum. See them when you shop this week. And price them too. You'll find them marked no higher than linoleum of less authentic design and originality.

New colorings in the smaller Handcraft Tiles

No. 6007

In these smaller Hand-craft Tiles heraldic motifs have been placed as accents. Castles, ships, shields, helmets appear at irregular intervals.
There is freedom from the regularity of the usual linoleum pattern—no
"repeat" that the eye can catch.

Armstrong's
Embossed
Inlaid No. 6008

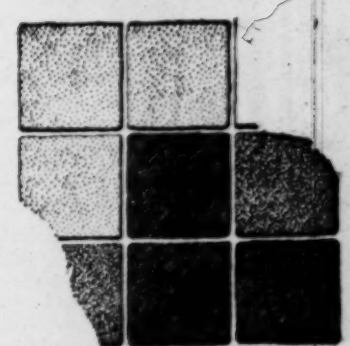

How about wear ... and cleaning?

Of course, Armstrong's Embossed Inlaid Linoleum is new in texture and new in beauty of design; yet as a floor it retains all the practical advantages of Armstrong Floors.

It can be cemented in place for lifetime wear. You will find it warm and comfortable to the foot. All patterns are waxed to a rich glow at the factory and take future waxings as well. Finally, an occasional dust-mopping replaces the old back-taxing scrubbing when you clean.

Quarry and Ashlar Tiles
For the larger room ...
smart shop ... office

From the illustration below you can gather a rough idea of the pattern, but nothing of the color and texture of these floors. In some patterns three shades of the same color are combined to give the effect of a hand-set floor. In others, differing colors are matched. Notice the mortar line effects—fashioned with rough edges as though hand laid by a skilled artisan.

New pattern ideas in Armstrong's Printed Linoleum

No. 6439

Close figures, inserted emblems, uneven-sized tiles—you'll find a host of new patterns in Armstrong's Printed
Linoleum.

Patterns are printed in wear-resisting oil colors on a genuine cork-linoleum body—a happy combination that appeals to a bright, colorful floor, a substantial quality floor,
a most interesting floor.

EDGE'S NICARAGUA CANAL PROJECT AID TO INTERVENTION

Doubt Cast on Sincerity of Proposal Which Senator
Plans to Bring Up in Next Congress.

NOT NEEDED FOR
AT LEAST 25 YEARS

Army Engineers Oppose Plan, Which Is Regarded as Only Affording Excuse for Military Control.

By CHARLES MICHELSON,
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and the New York World.

WASHINGTON, April 4. — Revival of the talk of digging another isthmian canal through Nicaragua is regarded merely as intended to make more logical the American intervention in Nicaragua.

Senator Edge of New Jersey announced the recrudescence of the project after an interview with President Coolidge, reinforcing his declaration that the matter would be brought up in the next Congress, with the statement that the traffic through the Panama Canal had increased to such a volume that inevitably either another lock would have to be built in the existing waterway or another canal would have to be constructed.

His estimates do not agree with the information given the Appropriations Committee recently, which indicated the Panama Canal was operating at less than half capacity. Moreover, the peak of the canal traffic so far was in 1924 and the tonnage never has attained comparable figures since.

Engineers Oppose Suggestion. The army engineers have pronounced against the Nicaragua project repeatedly, and there is no indication they have changed their minds about it.

To begin with, the cost of the new route would be somewhere between half a billion and a billion dollars. The plans call either for locks or a tunnel through the backbone of the country, with the possibility that a tunnel would be tumbled by the first earthquake in that frequently shaken country. To add another lock to the Panama waterway would cost approximately $125,000,000.

The Nicaraguan canal, if constructed, could prosper only by the diminution of the profits of the old waterway, which is getting about 5 per cent on the actual investment from the tolls. At present the Panama Canal is operated only in the daytime, though the lighting arrangements are installed so that the capacity can be doubled any time the traffic calls for it.

Value in Agitation. Another point the army engineers have made is that a new canal would add one more region to fortify and protect in event of war.

The value of the project at present is that, if we made the motions of getting ready to go through with it, there would be no more serious criticism of our directing Nicaraguan politics, as we have been doing. The country would recognize the necessity of having a friendly government in power, while such an operation was under way.

Incidentally, the Sacas crowd has vociferously announced it is as much in favor of the canal as the Nicaraguans, not only because of the vast expenditure of money down there, but through development of the country which is without an interoceanic railroad or, for that matter, any road from one side of it to the other.

Some day the Nicaraguan waterway will be built, but the necessity for it, according to such authorities as venture a prophecy, will not come for 25 years at least.

World War Coolidge Economy. Senator Edge may introduce a bill to look into the subject at the next Congress, but there is no likelihood that anything further will be done. It would be contrary to the Coolidge policy to undertake the expenditure of a half a billion of dollars, while an alternative can be had for a quarter of that amount, which would meet all expectations of canal business for two or three decades.

MacVegh Sails for E. S. April 4. TOKIO, April 4.—American Ambassador Charles MacVegh will sail for the United States on the Empress of Canada April 8. It is expected to return by the end of May. Mrs. MacVegh will remain in Japan.

To begin with, the cost of the Incidentally, the Sacaca crowd has vociferously announced it is to Nicaragua, not only because of the vast expenditure of money down there, but through develop-

World War Coolidge Economy.
Senator Edge may introduce a bill to look into the subject at the next Congress, but there is no likelihood that anything further will be done. It would be contrary to the Coolidge policies to undertake amount, which would meet all expenditures of canal business for two three decades.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Federal income tax collections for March this year amounted to $516,-

534,789.55, an increase of about

$17,000,000 over collections for the same month in 1926, the Treasury

Department announced yesterday.

With $1,449,971,880 already collected during the first three quarters of the present fiscal year, Treasury officials estimated that total internal revenue and customs receipts would reach $3,426,000,000 for the year ending June 30. A forecast of approximately this figure was made last December.

The Treasury Department also made public its preliminary report on statistics of income for the calendar year 1925, compiled from returns filed up to Sept. 1, 1926.

This analysis revealed the striking changes which resulted from the 1926 revenue law.

As compared with approximately the same period for 1924, the most significant change noted was the great decrease in the number of income tax returns made by individuals. During the first eight months of 1926 only 3,954,000 returns were made for 1925, a falling off of 3,250,000 returns in comparson with the similar period of the preceding year.

Fewer Returns, Larger Revenue.

Of those making returns, the millions had no taxable income. For the full year 1924, of 7,369,788 individuals reporting, 4,489,698 made returns of taxable income. It was estimated that for the full year

1925, only 2,400,000 individuals would return taxable incomes, or a decrease of about 2,000,000 taxable returns.

The total net income reported was about $4,500,000,000 less than reported by the preliminary report for the preceding year, while the income of those with taxable income was reduced about $1,240,- 000,000.

In spite of this reduction, and in spite of lower tax rates, the tax collected was about 6 per cent greater. The reason given for this was that the large decrease in the number of taxable incomes was confined to those with net incomes of less than $5000, while the number of those with net incomes in excess of $5000 increased.

Of the taxes returned, approximately one-half was by individuals with net incomes in excess of $5000;

about 48 per cent, or $358,400,000, was returned by those with net incomes in excess of $100,000. In other words, 10,000 persons paid as much in taxes as did the 2,370,000

other individuals who made taxable returns.

According to these preliminary returns for the income year 1925, approximately one-hundredths of 1 per cent of the population paid more than 95 per cent of the individual income tax; 17 per cent pay less than 5 per cent of the tax, and the remaining 82 per cent pay no income tax at all.

Many Wage-Earners Exempt.

Study of the source of income revealed that the principal tax reduction effected by the act of 1926 was on income from wages and salaries. Although the entire income of the people in 1925 was greater than in 1924, the total return of income for tax purposes was $4,500,000,000 less, due largely to the entire exemption from income tax of more than 40 per cent of the former income taxpayers.

Wages and salaries returned for 1925 were $4,400,000,000 less; the returns from business and partnerships about $970,000,000 less; from rents and royalties over $185,000,

000 less; from interest and investments over $485,000,000 less. On the other hand, income derived from the sale of property of all kinds increased $560,000,000 from capital gains, $549,000,000 from dividends, over $164,000,000.

In connection with the sharp reduction of rates applicable to the larger incomes affected by the revenue act of 1926, there were no only important increases in the number of taxpayers reporting incomes in the higher brackets, but an actual increase in the tax paid by these groups. The number of returns of income in excess of $100,000 increased 63 per cent; in excess of $200,000, 104 per cent;

and in excess of $500,000, 16 1/2 per cent.

Many More With $1,000,000 a Year.

The number of persons paying taxes on incomes in excess of $1,-

000,000 jumped abruptly to 267 in 1925, compared with 75 in the preceding year and 74 in 1923.

Seven persons occupied a class by themselves, paying taxes on incomes of more than $5,000,000; the total tax of this group amounting to $61,382,563.

At the same time, incomes of $500,000 and over paid $31,000,000 more taxes at the 20 per cent surtax rate than they did at 40 per cent, and incomes in excess of $100,000, $58,000,000 more. Incomes of $1,000,000 and over paid

$20,000,000 more at 20 per cent

than they did at 40 per cent.

Property Sales Gain.

The most striking increase, however, was that reported in income from sale of property, which rose from $1,119,840,772 to $1,930,064,- 065, or an increase of $810,223,293.

The largest source of returns for corporations making returns for the year was 417,421, for the full income year 1924. The preliminary report gave the number of returns for 1925 at 414,461. The preliminary report for 1924 shows 244,544 returns, which was the result of corporate returns netting out the income of corporations for the year

1925 was returned at $9,036,690,-

165, which will probably be appreciably increased by the full year's returns, officials said. The tax return for 1925 was $1,101,657,078,

the largest corporate income tax,

as distinguished from the excess profits tax, record.

There were two reasons for this increase in the corporation tax:

First, the prosperity of the country, and, second, the increase in the corporation tax rate, offset, however, by the elimination of the capital stock tax, the Treasury officials said. The tax for the year

1925 was imposed at the rate of 13 per cent instead of 12 1/2 per cent, as in 1924.

In Missouri 15,520 corporations made returns. Of this number 9214 reported net incomes amounting to $216,852,113, on which they paid $25,983,149 in taxes. The remaining 6006 corporations reported deficits aggregating $45,853,554.

Rapid Transit Here and in Chicago.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

NOTICE in your issue of the 30th, a news item which seems to indicate some danger of rapid transportation for St. Louis being postponed for two years more. I am very sorry indeed to know that such is the case, for I am very deeply interested in St. Louis and I realize that St. Louis is being seriously retarded by a lack of a really adequate transportation system.

You have, I think, the best surface car system in America. As such, it is wonderfully efficient, but St. Louis has outgrown surface car lines and, in my own humble opinion, the transportation problem will continue to grow bigger and bigger until you people there conclude that either subways or an elevated system is a necessity. However, 40 per cent of your citizens are too self-satisfied to actually do anything about what is really the greatest question that has ever been before them. Those who are not satisfied are content with "cussing" the United Railways and letting it go at that. If the press of St. Louis could "sell" the voters on the idea of getting rapid transportation to your business section the transportation would follow.

Thousands of people working in Chicago's "loop" district live from 12 to 16 miles from their work, yet transportation to them is not as much of a problem as it is to the man who lives west of Kingshighway in St. Louis. In either case it means about 25 minutes from the office to home during the rush hours. It is largely by virtue of our wonderful transportation here that Metropolitan Chicago is growing at the rate of 200,000 per year without feeling as much congestion as the average American city.

Visitors here marvel at the ease of getting from the outlying districts to the "loop," but the residents here, instead of being satisfied, are demanding subways; and our Mayor, who is now in the midst of a hot contest for re-election, is being severely criticized by his friends and opponents alike, for not having provided subways for the city within the space of two years, the agitation for such transportation having started about that long ago.

Come on St. Louis! Shake off that satisfied feeling and take on the spirit which we thought you had when you voted $37,000,000 in bonds for public improvements.

Chicago, Ill.

A LEADERLESS LEGISLATURE.

The Missouri Legislature practically ended Saturday night. It will formally adjourn sine die at 6 o'clock this evening. For 17 days the Assembly has been enacting the sordid spectacle with which the people of Missouri are familiar. It has functioned only after a fashion. This condition is due to the law which fixes the pay of members at $5 a day for 70 days, after which the per diem is $1. When the 70-day period expires the members of the House begin to drift away. A quorum is maintained only with difficulty. The consequence is that measures of merit frequently die because, with the reduced membership, a constitutional majority cannot be polled. A conspicuous instance of this kind in the present session was the home rule bill, which died in the House because of empty seats. Had the full House membership been present it possibly might have passed.

This condition should be remedied. The proposal to abolish the wage scale and pay legislators a salary of $1000 for the session, which, by a resolution adopted, will be submitted as a constitutional amendment to popular vote, might help if reasonable and practical requirements as to attendance were stipulated. The legal drafting of such provisions, however, would be a hard, if not impossible, task, yet without such assurance the proposal is likely to be rejected.

But if all this were happily arranged, if the Legislature remained intact and on the job from the first to the final gavel, there would still be no guarantee that the body would do the things it ought to do and omit doing what it ought not to do. Earnest, vigilant, efficient government does not inhere in any system of legislative or administrative organization. We have got to have men of ability to get good government. An explanation for the record at Jefferson City the past winter may be found in the following comment of the Post-Dispatch's correspondent:

The present session has been marked by a lack of forceful leadership in either Senate or House, being particularly drab because of the failure of Gov. Baker to present any constructive program and the inability of the Governor to hold his own party in line on such administration issues as came up.

This failure of the Governor to rise to the occasion was remarked by the Post-Dispatch in its comment on Mr. Baker's message. The judgment then expressed—on Jan. 9—stands unchanged:

We regret to say that we have searched Gov. Baker's message to the Legislature for signs of high leadership, of a man of vision, who will dominate the machinery and make it work effectively in the public interest. Gov. Baker ignores the larger aspects of the problems now confronting the State and deals with the petty aspects, or with the larger aspects in a petty way. There are good recommendations in his message. But instead of outlining constructive measures and reconstructive reforms, he tinkers with the problems.

The Post-Dispatch pointed out two great reforms which have been occupying the public mind:

First, the reorganization of the State departments and boards for economy and efficiency, for which the Association for Economy in Public Expenditures had outlined an excellent plan, including a budget system. In his message Gov. Baker ignored this plan. He admitted the truth of the association's criticism—the overlapping boards, the bit-or-miss methods of estimating the needs of the State's departments and activities, the resulting confusion, inefficiency and waste, but his only solution was the creation of a budget commission. Instead of commending or recommending this method to stop waste and curtail expenditures and thus reduce taxes he proposed more taxes of the objectionable "outrance" category.

Second, revision of the criminal code for the purpose of simplifying procedure and rendering it more effective for the prosecution and punishment of criminals. On this subject the Association for Criminal Justice, composed of distinguished citizens of both political parties, had made a searching survey, prepared an impressive report and submitted recommendations. This, too, was ignored in the message. The only cognizance the Governor took of it was a request for official power to dismiss law officers who failed to do their duty and for an act enabling the Attorney-General to prosecute in cases where local prosecutors had failed to do their duty.

Such was the Governor as revealed in his message and such is the Governor as revealed in this second and last regular legislative session of his term.

The Post-Dispatch concluded its editorial of Jan. 9 with this paragraph:

It is too early yet to discover what leadership there is in either house of the General Assembly. There is need for it in the Legislature because the hope of finding it in the executive office is vain.

Unfortunately, that leadership did not develop. The record, however, is not quite barren. Some desirable bank legislation was passed, and the Senate is to be credited with defeating the scheme to abolish the office of State Health Supervisor and the consequent reestablishment of the political management of our eleemosynary institutions. The Senate did well, too, in confirming the Orrick appointment.

But what a scanty showing that is for almost three months of costly legislative laboring! And what's to be done about it? This much is plain: We must choose able men for public office. The governorship is a big job. It should not be given to a Republican or to a Democrat as such but to a man who is big enough to handle it. So with all our public servants. That is the only real solution for chaos and waste in the public business and the oppressively heavy taxmen of parts who can see what should be done and have the courage and capacity to do it.

CENSORSHIP OF NEWSPAPERS.

Is the country likely to hear demands in the near future for a censorship of the daily press? Such seems to be the prospect disclosed by the report on crime and the press which has just been rendered by a subcommittee of the New York State Crime Commission. This report, after denouncing news of crime as an incentive to its perpetration, concludes with the assertion that "newspaper censorship, while undesirable, is not the worst of evils."

The occasion for such concern over the reporting of crime is, of course, the fact that the so-called yellow journalism has been running wild during the past two or three years. Both the older journals and the tabloids have come to report crimes in a manner at once more detailed and more revolting than has ever before been witnessed. The recent libel actions brought against a New York tabloid by principals of the Hall-Mills case were occasioned by this method of dealing with crime news.

But the fundamental cause of the threatened demand for censorship of crime news is, as the report of the New York subcommittee declares, the notion that the reading of such news is capable of prompting impressionable persons to commit crimes. This may or may not be true, but at present it can fairly be said to be so unsupported by evidence as not to justify the imposition of a sort of petty tyranny which is more potent of evil than the abuse it is intended to remedy.

TOMORROW'S IMPORTANT ELECTIONS.

In only one of the two sets of elections tomorrow—the School Board and the Board of Aldermen—has there been any open interest and action taken by citizens, apart from party organization, to select candidates.

Important measures will have to be passed upon by the members of the Board of Aldermen to be elected tomorrow. The board will have to act upon ordinances touching public improvements of great magnitude. The exchange of bridges is pending and rapid transit is under way. Yet there has been no movement on the part of citizens to make selections on the ground of good records, honesty and capacity to deal with important public questions. There has been no organized movement to provide party opposition in the Board of Aldermen, which is under complete control of the Republican party.

The Post-Dispatch presented Sunday the records of the candidates, and all the evidence available. Several candidates of the dominant party have not had good records. The records should be carefully scanned and an intelligent selection made so far as possible, with a view not only to electing the best, but to securing wholesome opposition.

For the School Board election the Citizens' School Board Committee and the Public School Alliance have selected five candidates, three in common. Their selections offer opportunity for intelligent discrimination.

Stephen M. Wagner, President of the board, who has served two terms, is a candidate for re-election, and has been a useful member in many respects, defends the record of the board. There is much truth in his defense. The public schools have made great material progress, and there has been no ugly scandal in the handling of public money. The board has been subject to criticism, some of it undoubtedly deserved, but the management cannot be attacked as corrupt or inefficient on the practical economic side.

The gentlemen's agreement by which the board was made bipartisan has gone to pot. The Democratic party has failed to file candidates. The board ought to be nonpolitical. The prime duty of voters is to choose candidates from the standpoint of integrity and capacity, regardless of politics.

Until the citizens as a whole take an active and intelligent interest in the nomination of candidates for these two highly important boards, the city and its public school system will be handicapped by mediocre or unfit men seeking personal or political interest instead of the public welfare.

MR. FORD'S ACCIDENT.

It is a matter of great gratification to the country to know that Mr. Ford is fast recovering from his injuries, which were happily slight.

It may also be said that most people felt it would be so. They have gone over the bank in Ford coupes themselves, and therefore know just how it is. You feel horribly knocked about at the time, and both you and the coupe seem to be done for. It is a glad surprise, one that thousands of people have experienced, to find at length that neither you nor the coupe is really much damaged.

It is almost too good to be true that the man who makes the coupe, and therefore has made possible the most agreeable surprise the country has experienced, has been able to share in this surprise without paying too great a price for it. Mr. Ford should have gone over the bank in one of his coupes when he was younger and therefore better able to stand being skinned up a bit. Still, better late than never. He is now one of the great Ford family, the ancient and honorable society of roly-polies.

We congratulate him.

HOME RULE AND THE ORRICK CASE.

After passing the Senate, the bill which would have given St. Louis control of her own police failed in the House. Its chances in the House were never too rosy, but those even were destroyed by the Orrick case.

This unfortunate incident made effective thunder for the opponents of home rule. Representative Roney of Jasper County said that under home rule in St. Louis there would not have been an Orrick at the head of the Police Department. It turned a portion of the local press against it. The loss of the bill can therefore be laid in part to the fight made upon Orrick by Republican Senators from St. Louis. It was a heavy price to pay for the cause of the St. Louis underworld, which does not like Orrick.

Home rule, therefore, remains an unrighted injustice. Nor is it due to the people out in the State. They have been willing to let the big cities govern themselves, but political rivalries in the cities themselves prevent it. Three Legislatures have passed home rule bills, but they have always been set aside, either by the Governor's veto or the referendum. In one instance the Democratic State Committee and the Antislavery League joined in a referendum to defeat home rule. This time it was defeated by an even less savory alliance, as bad as that was.

Thus we are plagued by politics, the same yesterday, today and forever. One's faith in democracy must needs be hardy to persist through such a persistent contradiction of its ideals. It is not true that State control of the metropolitan police gives us better men than home rule would give us. The record belies it. The Orrick case only made it seem true. We had forgotten some other Police Commissioners.

AS WAS.

Mr. Coolidge has revoked the Harding executive order under which the naval oil reserves were transferred from the watchful eye of the Navy Department to the vigilant guardianship of the Department of the Interior.

Mr. Doherty has been ousted from Elk Hills by the United States Supreme Court, and the United States is defending itself in the Pacific.

Mr. Sinclair has been ousted from Teapot Dome by a Federal Court of Appeals, and the oil is still there.

Mr. Fall is back in Three Rivers, N. M., operating his ranch.

The Republican party—the party of the Ohio gang—is still in power.

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

LATIN-AMERICA AND THE LIBERALS.

HERBERT CROLY in the New Republic.

IF THE United States finally decides to subordinate the needs and preferences of the Mexican and Central American peoples to the interests of the owners of foreign capital, the progressives in this country will have to look to the repair of their own fences. Thereafter the domination of self-centered business and finance in the affairs of the United States will inexorably become more headstrong, more intolerant and more unscrupulous than it now is. The official propaganda will increasingly affirm that any protest against this imperialism in Mexico, Central America or in the United States itself is a symptom of an intolerable bolshevism; and in the shadow of this propaganda, dirty work of all kinds can be carried on with impunity. The progressives, who are defending the right of Mexico to pursue a national policy which, for the time being, is justified in being suspicious and defensive against the United States, are merely defending their own right to exist. Mexico is their test case. If they cannot safeguard her from the peril to her independence created by the alliance between aggressive capitalism, narrow legalism and racial snobbery in this country, they will themselves in the long run have to submit to treatment as rough and as unfair as that to which the State Department and the oil interests are now subjecting the Mexican Government.

INDIAN RUNNERS.

From the New York World.

IT makes a pretty story, this feat of 20 Tarahumara Indians, who round up an 80-mile run to the cheers of a great crowd that had gathered in the stadium of the University of Texas at Austin. But to many of us the most charming feature of the story was not the finish at all, but a little incident that took place along the way. With the two Indians who finished last started a third Indian, who was forced to give up when about 27 miles from the finish. Did his companions leave him and push on in order to cover the distance in the least possible time? They did not. They quit racing for the time being, and stayed with him while doctors were reviving him, regardless of how many precious minutes might be lost. It was a performance that our own athletes might well ponder over. Little imagination is required to picture how cheerfully a field of white men would have trotted past one who had fallen by the wayside. To them the race is everything, and devil take the hindmost. But these Indians had a better sense of proportion. To them the race was only a race, but a fallen companion was something to be concerned about.

A TOMATO-PLUM.

From London Tid-Bits.

PLEASE pass the plumato." A new dessert fruit has a name which looks like a police test of sobriety, but isn't; Cyphomandra Betacea. It has been known in botanical circles since 1836, but is now to the housewife, and has now been taken up by a well-known firm of fruit growers. It comes from the tomato family, in appearance resembles a large golden plum, tastes something like a mixture of tomato and plum, and can be eaten as a dessert or used to make a salad.

WHAT HAPPENED TO THE BREWERS.

By RALPH COUGHLAN in the Baltimore Evening Sun.

AN EX-BREWER was telling how brewing felt when prohibition came in. "For six months we were punch-drunk," he said after groping for a term to express the vast confusion in the industry after January, 1920. It was a case of clutching the ropes, of shaking the head to clear the brain, in most cases the mighty sock of prohibition proved to be the knockout blow. Fighters speak of a certain sweet lassitude, the sense of dolce far niente, that follows a hard job to the law. That, apparently, is what the brewers experienced. As the industry once again collapsed like a trail husk. Notable exceptions merely emphasize the point.

When suds fell under governmental indictment there were in this country about 2200 breweries, representing a capitalization roughly of $1,000,000,000. Today there are something like 500 beer plants which turn out dealcoholized products with little semblance of ancient zeal. Rats and spiders have taken possession of 70 per cent of the remainder as they lie in the hope of a brighter and wetter day. Some few ex-brewers have junked the rusting machinery, swept out the last grain of barley and offered the buildings for rent. Others have surrendered the last physical vestiges of the business to the wrecking crew. In the process of surrendering to Volsteadism $800,000,000 of capitalization was charged off.

RAIN.

When you're feeling rather weary, things hamper and constrain, there is nothing quite so soothing as the soft and gentle rain. At twilight, as you listen to the drops upon the eaves, they steal away your troubles like so many fairy thieves. Then you think of the movie stars who are so little brooklets' side, where you sit and watch the ripples as they dance a waltz and die. While you listened to the drops of the rapids there below, you were not close to heaven, but of course you did not know it. I long to be a child again, to climb that brook, to roam the hills and valleys to seek each shady nook; to lie there in the cool, sweet grass, and gaze up at the sky, watching the calm and lazy clouds as they drift by. I would gladly give up my childhood as I listen to the rain.

The Chinese have a noiseful custom, and our unofficial guess is that it will be one of the formerly well-known "sectors" of the battle line.

THE REVOLT OF ASIA. By Up-ton Close. (Putnam.)

"THE REVOLT OF ASIA has come; the white man's world dominance is at an end." So without qualification of any sort Up-ton Close proclaims the meaning of the written a big book to lack this statement. "Up-ton Close" a Mr. Josef Washington Hall, adventurer, explorer, journalist, before writing his book he traveled 20,000 miles through all countries from Japan to Egypt by way of investigating the present status of the white man among the darker skinned peoples who, until recent years, have come more or less resigned to the white man's appointed superiority and merit.

Every country that he visited, Mr. Hall tells us, he found the people both defiant and hopeful. If we may accept the author's view, it is as though all of Asia had suddenly become conscious as a whole of the indignities of the white man and of his essential weakness before the newly awakened East.

In showing how this state of affairs came about, Mr. Hall first sketches rapidly the historical process beginning with the Renaissance by which the white man came to cherish and to impose upon the darker peoples the curious idea that he was the natural aristocrat of the planet. Then he shows by what process the idea has lost its hold, not only upon the people of the Orient, but, to a considerable extent, upon the better minds of the whites as well. The picture presented is practically that of a championed man sitting on a high limb and industriously plying the saw between himself and the trunk of the tree. Superior only in scientific technology, according to our author, the white man, through greed of gain has deliberately ignored his "superiority" with that technology. Furthermore, we are told, the former belief of the East in the white man's possession of some superior moral quality, which would justify him in his conduct, has been a fatal blot during the World War, so that the white man among the Orientals have come to conceive as not only hypocritical but silly.

Russia's definite shift from the war to Asia, another result of the war, is given as the most important factor among the many that are cited as significant of the predicament in which Western civilization finds itself.

Mr. Hall sees no flattering vision of the British Empire's future, for America, he feels, is too big to be a part of the British Empire. We are told, must henceforth lead the white races, with the Pacific as the great commercial sea, it is rather a tossup. If we can agree upon some modus vivendi with the new and titanic East, we may be exceeding in some of the details of the book. The author's view is that the white man's world dominance is at an end. TAILOR-MADE PHILOSOPHY

TOPIC OF PERCIVAL CHUBB

Clothes Symbols That Things Are in Saddle, Riding Mankind Hard, He Says.

"A tailor-made philosophy of life," and clothes as a symptom, were discussed by Percival Chubb, leader of the Ethical Society, in his address yesterday at Sheldon Memorial on "Sartorial Resurrection" (the Tailor Retalioed).

"They are simply the most striking symptom of the fact that things are in the saddle and ride mankind at a speed which exceeds the danger limit," he said. "The goal is success, and the tailors have unfurled the banner, 'Dress well and succeed.'"

University men as the source of styles evoked a remark about "tailored scholarship." "Could anything be more delightfully in the vein of the humorous old university professor who speaks in Carlyle's pages?"

"What then are clothes? They are the outward expressions of character. They are the costumes we select to dramatize the parts we choose to play or have thrust upon us. A strange assortment from the savage's paint to the Chancellor's wig and gown and My Lady's feather and jewels. They are symbols of personality."

A graduate of Washington University, Scott was active in dancing affairs on the local campus and since he has taken up the work professionally, although engaged in business in Chicago. He coached dancers in the Greater St. Louis Exposition last autumn. He is originator of the "chicken flutter," a new dance step being featured in vaudeville and revues.

Another woman made happy... it might as well be you

Some woman has a New Easy Washer—some woman has her wash-days forever made lighter—some woman will stay younger; look fresher; save time, money and clothes because of the New Easy that washes and damp-dries at the same time.

Why can't you be the next woman to have a New Easy in your home and see for yourself the amazing way it washes, damp-dries and handles the water—all at the same time? It will cost you nothing to see this wash-day miracle. We will lend you a New Easy, put it in your home, and you may watch it do a whole week's washing free.

Two tubs—one dries while the other washes

With your own eyes you will see the Easy's large tub take a great big eight-sheet batch of clothes and get them spotlessly clean. At the same time you will see the Easy's drying tub take another eight-sheet batch and damp-dry them ready for the line in three minutes. Think of it—sixteen double sheets (or the equal in other clothes) washed and damp-dried together; time absolutely cut in half. And yet, speed is only one of the Easy's many remarkable features.

Presto! Your clothes are damp-dry

No longer do you have to handle wet clothes, piece by piece. Just move a lever, and in a jiffy your clothes are so dry they need only a few minutes in the sun.

Blankets, bath towels and such pieces come out of the Easy's dryer with a soft fluffiness that will delight you. The nap is fluffed up instead of pressed down. You won't find deep wrinkles in the clothes, either; and you know how much easier that makes the ironing. Nor will you find a single broken button. Think of the sewing time saved!

Handles the water for you

The New Easy's marvelous water-circulating system takes the suds, the rinse water and the blue water that are whirled from the clothes in the dryer, and returns each to its proper place. It even empties the washer for you when you're all through washing. Doesn't that sound marvelous?

But that is not all. Underneath the washtub is a special gas heater that keeps the water at an even temperature all through the washing and can also be used to sterilize white pieces right in the washer.

Let us lend you a New Easy—FREE

Don't wait until all your neighbors have this modern miracle-worker. You can see its wonders now, without waiting a day longer. It won't cost you one penny, for all you have to do is call up the nearest Easy dealer, and on your regular wash-day the New Easy will be on the job, ready to do a whole week's washing for you. If you should want to keep the New Easy permanently, you can make a small down payment and it stays right there.

SURVIVOR OF THE JEANNETTE EXPEDITION IN ARCTIC DIES
Louis P. Noros of Providence, R. I., Thought to Have Been Last of the Party.
By the Associated Press.
FALL RIVER, Mass., April 4.—Louis P. Noros, thought to be the last surviving member of the ill-fated Jeannette expedition led by Lieutenant-Commander George Washington de Long in search of the Northwest passage in 1879, died in Providence, R. I., last night. He was 77 years old.
Noros was 29 when he joined the Jeannette expedition, which was authorized by a special act of Congress and backed, in part, by James Gordon Bennett. The expedition sailed from San Francisco July 8, 1879. The Jeannette was caught in an ice jam and began a helpless drift of months held fast in the pack until it sank on June 13, 1881. Divided into three groups of approximately 12 men, each with one fully provisioned small boat, the crew dragged their boats over the ice floes until they struck open water. They kept together until driven apart by a fierce North Pacific storm. One boat sank with all hands, but the two others reached the delta of the Lena River on the Siberian coast in October, 1881. Several weeks later Noros and a man named Ninderman returned with native help to find De Long and his men dead. Both Noros and his companion were decorated by Congress. Noros was granted a small annuity.
Except for the possibility of a man named Leach still being alive, Noros was to be the last survivor of the expedition.
84 TAKEN IN RAID AT 3 A. M.
Sounds of revelry in the house at 406 South Fifteenth street at 3:30 a. m. yesterday were supplanted by a rush to escape when a squad of police raided the place. Eighty-four Negro men and women were arrested in various parts of the building, many hiding in closets. Under three tubs in the basement, the raiders found three crouching women, and in a closed folding bed a man.
Besides the men and women, two revolvers, 54 quarts of beer and a large quantity of empty bottles were found. John Potter, whose home it is, declared he and his wife were giving a little party.
Postoffice and Four Stores Robbed.
By the Associated Press.
NASHVILLE, Ill., April 4.—Robbers early yesterday broke into the postoffice, Postmaster Peck's general merchandise store, Shank's garage and Dawkins' milk station at Ashley, 10 miles east of here, and escaped with an undetermined amount of loot. A safe was robbed at each place. Postoffice inspectors are on the case.

Members Going Home and Few Will Be Found at Desks for the Final Gavel at 6 P. M. Today.

178 BILLS PASSED OF 1203 OFFERED

Senate Approves State Automobile Code Revision but Measure Fails in Jam in the House.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 4.—With legislative business at an end, except for the signing of bills by legislative officers and other clerical formalities, a few members of both houses of the fifty-fourth General Assembly gathered today to await formal adjournment, scheduled for 6 p. m. today. Neither House had a quorum and so did not actually convene this morning. Twelve or 14 Senators were in the Senate chamber and about 40 Representatives were in the House.

While the resolution adopted by both branches calls for sine die adjournment at 6 p. m. the gavels probably will not fall in both houses until some time tomorrow, as the House officers and clerical force will not have completed the enrolling and signing of bills at the hour fixed. The clocks will be stopped shortly before 6 o'clock and will not be started until the work is completed. This is to keep the record straight.

Police Pension Bill Dead.

Before the Senate quit working at midnight Saturday night the St. Louis police pension bill and the three Beedle bills giving St. Louis a modified form of police home rule, through control over some of the Police Department appropriations, were made a special order of business for this morning. This was only a gesture and members of the Senate today stated there was no chance of any bills being passed today.

Most of the House and Senate members went home yesterday and others were preparing to go today. The small array of clerks in the House and Senate also was being disbanded after the final call of the paymaster. A few clerks will be held over in each House to wind up the clerical work and complete the journal of proceedings.

The session cost $362,750 for pay of the Legislators, pay of the clerks, doorkeepers, assistant doorkeepers, and other employees, printing, supplies, and miscellaneous expenditures.

Appropriation bills passed by the two Houses total approximately $108,000,000 of which $27,916,000 is against the general revenue, $80,184,000 against special tax levies, special funds and fees and earnings of departments.

The general revenue appropriations are about $2,500,000 in excess of the Senate estimate of general revenue for 1927-28 and $4,800,000 in excess of the State Tax Commission's estimate.

Gov. Baker's task of trimming the appropriations to the estimated revenues will be easier than in 1925, when the Legislature over-appropriated the estimated revenues by approximately $6,500,000. The Governor held up about $2,900,000 after the 1925 session, and increases in the revenue during 1925-26, over the Tax Commission estimate, permitted release of more than half of appropriations held up.

There is no statutory authority for the holding up of an appropriation, but it is done by agreement with the head of the department affected. A strict construction of the law would require either approval or veto of such items. The bill providing for a State-wide uniform traffic regulation and containing safety code measures failed of passage. The measure, which provided, among other things, for a maximum speed limit of 45 miles an hour on State highways and for enforcement of all measures by State highway patrolmen, passed the Senate early Saturday evening with 21 amendments, mostly to care for technical defects. One of the amendments, however, eliminated the highway patrol.

Bill Fails in the House.

The bill was sent back to the House and 80 votes were cast there for concurrence in the amendments. Before the bill could be called up again for final passage many members of the House had departed and advocates of the bill were only able to muster 69 votes seven less than necessary for passage.

CHRISTIANITY DEFINED BY G. SHERWOOD EDDY

Asiatic Secretary of Y. M. C. A.
Addressing Two Meetings
Daily This Week.

G. Sherwood Eddy, Asiatic secretary of the Y. M. C. A., widely known speaker on religious, industrial and international themes, addressed a noonday audience which filled the lower floor of the Orpheum Theater today. He will speak every noon and night this week, except Saturday, under the auspices of the Church Federation at noon meetings at the Orpheum and at night meetings in First United Presbyterian Church, Washington and Adelaide avenue, University City.

As his noon topic, Eddy took the question, "What is Christianity?" He said that in his own experience Christianity had come to him successively as a personal gospel, a missionary gospel, a social gospel, and a full gospel comprehends all of these.

Examples which he cited were the East Indian youth, of the despised devil tribe, who had become first native Bishop in India; another who had become head and vitalizing influence of the ancient Syrian church, and the Chinese Christian General, Feng, as exemplifying the social gospel. He told of the late John J. Eagan, Atlanta manufacturer, who had run his business without personal profit, to pay what he deemed adequate wages, and who left the control of the business to his employees. He told also of Eagan's work to end race hatred in Atlanta.

Tomorrow noon Eddy will speak on "What's Wrong with the World?" Some of his previous utterances on international questions, particularly as to Russia, have caused controversy. Eddy conducted to Russia last summer the party of American visitors, of which Dean Scarlett of Christ Church Cathedral and William H. Taft, Jr., St. Louis cereal manufacturer, were members.

BAKER SIGNS BILL CREATING BUILDING AND LOAN BUREAU

Measure Abolishing Cosmetics and Hair Dressers' Examiners Also Approved by Governor.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, April 4.—Gov. Baker today signed five bills passed by the Legislature, including one taking the supervision of building and loan associations away from the State Finance Department and establishing a separate department to be known as the State Bureau of Building & Loans Supervision. He vetoed one bill calling for posting in a public place by banks of lists of unclaimed deposits of less than $50.

The new department of Building and Loans Supervision will be headed by a supervisor appointed by the Governor with the consent of the Senate, to receive a salary of $3000 a year. He is empowered to appoint six examiners at salaries of $2400 a year. The bill makes no changes in the Building and Loan laws.

Other bills signed by the Governor were: Repealing an act passed in 1925, which established the State Board of Cosmeticians and Hair Dressers' examiners and providing for regulation of beauty shops. Increasing the salary of the Chief Clerk of the Attorney-General from $2400 to $2800 a year. Increasing the salary of guards at the State penitentiary who work more than eight hours a day from $115 to $135 a month; authorizing insurance companies writing health, accident, and fidelity insurance to write the insurance of retail or manufacturing jewelers against loss, damage or theft.

SKYSCRAPERS TO BE BUILT OVER CHICAGO'S RAIL TRACKS

Daily News Structure Will Be Above Union Station Lines Along River.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, April 4.—Chicago is beginning to use the air rights over her railroad tracks. The Chicago Daily News is the first business concern to plan a building over a railroad right of way, but many similar projects are under discussion. Downtown Chicago is virtually encircled by railroad tracks, but real estate men say it will be only a matter of time until all tracks are hidden under skyscrapers.

The Daily News Building will be west of the Chicago River over tracks leading into the new Union Station. Pending electrification of the terminal, shafts will provide an outlet for locomotive smoke. The river front will become a broad plaza.

Probably the most valuable property is the Illinois Central right of way along the lake front. The terminal is being electrified and city planners envision a new wilderness of skyscrapers.

Gamache was employed as a carpenter at the Hamilton-Brown Shoe Co., 2205 Locust street, and on March 3 three of his fingers were lacerated when he jammed them against a cross-cut saw. The wounds failed to heal and two of the fingers were amputated at one time and late the third one. Blood poison developed and he was taken to the hospital March 19.

$200,000 FOR 249-ACRE SITE IN WESTWOOD COUNTRY CLUB

$117,000 in Deed of Trust in Partial Payment; at Ballas and Conway Roads.
Deeds have been filed with the Recorder at Clayton showing consummation of the purchase of 249 acres of land facing on the east side of Ballas road and north side of Conway road, St. Louis County, for a new site for the Westwood Country Club, now on Berry road, Glendale. It is understood the purchase price was a little more than $200,000, and deeds of trust for $117,000 were given in partial payment.

Names of the sellers and amounts of deeds of trust they received back follow: Frederick W. Wipke, 60 acres, $30,000; James J. Quinn, 60 acres, $20,000; Fred C. Deuser, 26 acres, $30,000; Mrs. Sophia Klautermeier, 40 acres, $21,000; Mrs. Julia Seltzer, 51 acres, $15,000. The various parcels were conveyed to an intermediary, Herbert Kraft, who in turn gave the club a deed for the whole, subject to the individual deeds of trust, which were given in his name.

Twenty acres of land at the immediate corner of Ballas and Conway roads was not included in the purchase. A $200,000 clubhouse, a swimming pool, tennis courts and possibly two 18-hole golf courses are contemplated. The location is eight miles west of the city and about two and one-half miles west of the St. Louis Country Club. Membership of Westwood Club includes many Jewish social leaders.

Skinny Men Can Do the Same

That's going some—but skinny men, women and children just can't help putting on good, healthy flesh when they take McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets.

As rich in vitamins as the nasty, fishy-tasting cod liver oil itself, but these sugar-coated, tasteless tablets are as easy to take as candy, and won't upset the stomach. One woman gained ten pounds in twenty-two days—60 tablets, 60 cents. Ask Wolff-Wilson Drug Stores or any druggist for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, and if you don't gain at least 5 pounds in 30 days your druggist is authorized to hand you back the money you paid for them.

CONSTIPATION GONE; SUFFERED 8 YEARS

Tried Everything, Finally Took Emulsion, and Gained 20 Pounds.

"My wife has been troubled for eight years with constipation. She has tried almost everything on the market and has never received any benefit from any of them. In fact, they have done more harm than good. She overheard one lady telling another what Milk Emulsion had done for her. She got a bottle and has continued its use since. She weighed 97 pounds at that time, and after taking five bottles she now weighs 117 pounds; gained 20 pounds on five large bottles; besides she is feeling fine."

"If all the people suffering from constipation knew what Milk Emulsion would do for them, you would have to enlarge your plant."—Leonard McKee, 29 Eye St., N. E., Washington, D. C.

Milk Emulsion restores healthy, natural bowel action, doing away with any need of pills and cathartics. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food, thus building flesh and strength, which are Nature's only aids in conquering germs and repairing the effects of wasting diseases.

This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream. Wonderful for weak, sickly children. No matter how severe your case, you are urged to try Milk Emulsion. If not satisfied with results, your money will be promptly refunded. Price 60c and $1.30 per bottle. Sold by druggists everywhere.

Better Than Soda
For fifty years genuine "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all

constipation

PLUTO Water

PEOPLE often ask just what is meant by the statement that Pluto washes away constipation. "If the action of Pluto is caused by water", they ask, "why does not common drinking water have the same effect?"

The reason is simple to those versed in the science of medicine. Ordinary water is absorbed before it can reach the intestines. Hence it has no opportunity to wash the digestive tract. Its action is on the kidneys rather than the intestines.

Unlike ordinary water, Pluto Water ceeding the mineral content of the blood. For that reason, Pluto Water is not absorbed, but passes intact through the intestines.

That is why Pluto washes. It flushes all that's before it, cleaning the system quickly and completely. Pluto

I used to suffer a great deal with headaches. Some time ago my physician prescribed a small dose of Pluto each morning in hot water. Thanks to Pluto, I have not had a headache in more relieves constipation in 30 minutes to two hours. Its method is the method that Nature provides for all cleaning — water. It never gripes—it is non-habit-forming—as harmless and soothing as it is dependable.

You wouldn't think of cleaning your face with harsh chemicals and drugs.
Why resort to such things for cleansing the delicate tissues inside your body? Play safe. Take Pluto Water—recommended by doctors for nearly a generation.

A small quantity of Pluto Water each day will keep you regular and safeguard your health. In time of emergency, you'll find Pluto a never-

BILL FOR SINGLE AUTO TAGS AWAITS ACTION BY GOVERNOR
Measure to Become Effective July 3, If Signed; Saving Is Estimated at $72,000.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, April 4.— Automobiles registered in Missouri will be required to display only one State license tag on the rear of the car after July 3, if the Governor signs a bill by Senator Gordon or Liberty, which was passed by the House in the closing hours of the session. The bill does away with the duplicate tag now carried on the front of an automobile, and provides that the license tag stay with the car to which it was issued, regardless of how many times it may be sold during a licensing period.

Under the present law two State tags are required for the front and rear of a car, and if the automobile is sold the purchaser must obtain a new license plate. If the person selling the automobile buys a new car he may have his old license plate transferred to his new car under the present law on payment of a fee of $2.

The Gordon measure also does away with the dealers' licenses, as all cars would be required to have State licenses when sold by dealer.
The dealer must add the cost of the license to the sale price or absorb it. All used cars traded in already would have licenses. Gordon estimated the bill would save the State $72,000 a year on the purchase of license tags and would end some of the abuses of the automobile license law by illegal use of duplicate dealers' license tags on privately operated cars.

GERMANS LOSE SUIT FOR BOSCH MAGNETO ASSETS
U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals Declines Against Their $5,000,000 Alien Property Claim.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 4.—Otto Heins and Robert L. Klein, former owners of stock and assets of the Bosch Magneto Co., which was sold for $5,000,000 by the Government under the alien property act, today lost their suit to recover their one-time holdings. The suit was dismissed by the United States Circuit Court of appeals in an opinion written by Judge Mack and concurred in by Judges Manton and Hough.

Klein and Heins, who are Germans, brought suit against A.
Mitchell Palmer, Allen Property
Custodian at the time of the seizure; Francis P. Garvin, managing director under Palmer; Martin E.
Kern, who purchased the stock
when the Alien Property Custodian offered it for sale, and the American Bosch Magneto Co., which Kern organized to carry on the business.

Among the allegations made by the complainants was that Garvin, acting under Palmer's orders, threatened to have Heins indicted thereby coercing him to sign a statement that enemy aliens owned the seized stock and assets.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON ARRIVES
Still Thinks He Can Build Yacht to Take America's Cup.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 4.—Sir Thomas Lipton arrived on the Leviathan today to repeat his optimistic belief in his ability to build a yacht that will take the American's cup to England.

After telling of a commission given Willie Fife to build a craft
"That will beat any of the American yachts," Sir Thomas turned to discuss "rapiers" and silk stockings. Speaking as a bachelor, he said: "When women pay 30 shillings for a pair of silk stockings, I think they are entitled to show at least 29 shillings and 6 pence worth."
He said he would be a wholesale, hearty and jovial self and might cut many years from the 77 records show for him. He declared that he had retired from business and declared he is still very much in the game of tea and yacht racing.

the repair work going on at the cided that by proper care the chilthan 48,000 persons attended the

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
CLINTON, MO., April 4.—Louis Schneider, author and Missouri Socialist leader, spent 21 hours in a small oak tree surrounded by flood waters, near here. He started across flooded Grand River in a boat to get the mail when he was struck by a stiff gale. Seeing his boat was about to capsize, he climbed into the tree at 8 o'clock Friday morning. The wind was so high all day he could not get away.

At daylight Saturday the wind had abated and he got back into the boat and came home. He had a sack and oil cloth in the boat for the mail, which he used for protection against the wind.

The condition of Grand River remains the same. Highways 1 and 24 are closed, as water is over the concrete several feet.

Helping the Farmer to Help Himself

Many a good farmer from the North, the East, and the Northwest has been brought into the Southland by the industrial and immigration departments of this and other great railroad systems. Good northern farmers are not necessarily good southern farmers unless they are given co-operation and advice as to what crops to plant, when to plant them and how to market them. For many years it has been one of the duties of this Railroad to assist in the up-building of every community it serves by inducing good citizens from other sections to locate in the Southland. L. & N. field agents are trained by years of experience and are authorities on the particular branch of agricultural activities on which they give advice.

Within the past three years,
as the result of national farm paper and magazine advertising, more than 20,000 farmers have written to this Railroad asking

SPARTA AND BEN MILLERS TIE IN WESTERN

Replay Likely to Be Held Here Next Sunday; St. Louis Scores on Scant Openings

Chicago Excels in Team Play but Fails to Take Advantage of Scoring Chances — 4800 Witness Well Played Game.

The replay of yesterday's 2-2 tie between the Ben Millers of this city and the Sparta Club of Chicago in the western semifinal of the National Soccer Cup competition, will probably be held here next Sunday. Under the rules of the competition, the question of where and when the replay must be held is up to the national cup committee but since the Sparta Club has no suitable park for so important a match it is considered probable that St. Louis will get the replay. A decision will be made today or tomorrow.

Whether the Millers will be able to make a better showing in their next match depends largely upon whether Pullback Vaughn has two good legs and whether Hennessy, the inside right forward, is back in the game. It required everything but an act of Congress to get Hennessy back from the Knoxville baseball club for yesterday's match and Bob Coleman may refuse to accommodate the Millers again. Vaughn, who has had bad underpinning for several weeks, was hurt in the first 15 minutes of play yesterday and was more or less incapacitated for the remainder of the game, kicking the ball only when it came his way and restricting his field of operation to a very limited area.

Sparta Misses Scoring Chances. Granting that Sparta makes no great improvement in its forward line, the Millers will always have a good chance to win from the Chicagoans. Had the Ben Miller forwards been given the scoring chances that were placed in front of the Sparta forwards, it is safe to say they counted a half dozen times. As it happened, Sparta's Nash and Jim Dunn each put the ball past the wonderful goal guardian, Hjulian, and these two markers proved a sufficient number to equalize the damage done by Adolph Burger, who scored for Sparta in the first half and again in the second period.

At the conclusion of two regular periods of 45 minutes each, the score was deadlocked and Referee Dave Evans of Detroit, whose handling of the game was quite as interesting and entertaining as any performance of the players, ordered two extra halves of 15 minutes each. When no score was made in that time the game was called.

The crowd which witnessed the match at St. Louis U. Field was estimated at 4800.

Considering the importance of the match and the highly excited state of players and spectators, the game was surprisingly clean and well-played. Only two men were hurt and in neither case was the injury traceable to foul play. Hennessy being a victim of a strained muscle and Capt. Nevsky going down from a twisted knee. Vaughn, suffering a recurrence of an old injury, played right on without asking any attention.

Overworked St. Louis Halfbacks. Superior physical condition enabled the Millers to counteract the better combination play of the visitors. Boston once, a Miller player refused to quit, but turned and pursued the ball until he had either forced his opponent to give up possession or had himself taken the ball away. At times the chasing around of the Miller halfbacks was rather ludicrous, but Sparta didn't get a big laugh out of it, for there was no beating of St. Louisans. Schweppe, at center halfback, was the central figure in this game of chasing an elusive ball, but he had a most astounding reservoir of reserve strength and almost invariably he came out with the ball.

The Miller halfbacks were worked so hard that they seemed ready to drop in their tracks as the final whistle was blown. But the fault was not entirely theirs. The inside forwards, Hennessy and Nash, gave a very sorry exhibition of position play. Throughout the game, this pair stayed up in the field with the center man and two wing forwards, the result being that when the leg-weary Ben Miller halfbacks did head the ball from their own penalty area, there was no Miller forward in the intermediate zone to take possession. That made the task of the Sparta halfbacks just about as simple as could be, and one of the lasting impressions of the match was the prominence of the Walker, Joe Burger and Havaty, the word from John J. Miller. After their backs had thus cleared the ball two or three times on the same play, the Miller inside forwards would finally wake up and drop back to a point where they should have been long before. This is fundamental football and it is rather distressing that St. Louis' representative team should look so utterly unskilled.

HOLLEY OF DETROIT IN WESTERN FINAL

Detroit Team Meets Winner. In the Western semifinal, played at Detroit yesterday afternoon, the Holley Carburetor team of Detroit defeated the American Hummerians of Cleveland and will meet the winner of the Ben Miller-Sparta game. Holley is led by the very excellent center forward, Visser, recent Holland Olympic star.

Nash's Spectacular Goal. Ben Miller's goal, which gave the Millers the lead in the first half, was the most spectacular of the day. Nash's long kick from a foul on Halfback Havaty, gave Hennessy the ball at the Chicago penalty line. He tapped it high to E. Dunn, who headed the ball toward the goal. The, in turn, Hennessy headed to Jim Dunn, who went high in the air to head the ball to Nash, who beat Goalkeeper Hjulian to the sphere and also headed, this time into the net, a very clever goal, well deserved.

Haverty's Penalty Kick. Sparta tied it up when Adolph Burger, following up a twisting shot by Cerveny from outside right, brushed the ball past Barnett and the latter tumbled. On several subsequent occasions, Barnett fumbled, but no Sparta player was close to take advantage.

Sparta Scores on Free Kick. Chicago took the lead in the second half when Burger scored a long shot from a foul. Vaughn in breaking up an attack, stopped a pass with his hands, just outside the penalty area, and Burger made good on free kick.

Mulroy to Jim Dunn. Just when it appeared Sparta must win, Jim Dunn saved the day for the Millers by tapping the ball past Hjulian on a cross from Mulroy. Hjulian made no effort whatever to stop Dunn.

Cerveny a Grandstand Artist. Cerveny, the outside right who joined Sparta this year, after quitting the team which came over here from Prague, was a disappointment. Arguably because he placed himself above his team, giving what is known as a grandstand exhibition.

Peetz Five Goes Away Tomorrow

Muny Girls Basket Champions Play in Canada April 12 and 14.

The Peetz team, winner of the girls' municipal basketball championship, will depart Tuesday at midnight for Edmonton, Canada, where the local girls are scheduled to meet the Edmonton Commercial Grads in a two-game series, April 12 and 14.

An early start is being made to give the local team a few days to get acclimated to the high altitude of Edmonton, which is situated on the eastern slope of the Rockies. The following players will make the trip: Ruth, Edna and Evelyn Mortensen, Margaret Ford, Margaret Bleck, Catherine Fitzgerald, Estelle Voltruba, Hazel Fox and Dorothy Brown.

Last year the Curries played at Edmonton and were defeated twice, 19 to 14 and 24 to 8. Dorothy Brown, recruited from the Ambassadors five, was a member of the Curries squad last year.

Kidding Themselves.

TRAVIS JACKSON, operated on for appendicitis last week, will assist in playing for the Giants on May 15; Walter Johnson, who fractured an ankle bone in training camp, will be ready for work May 1. At least such announcements have been made.

"Copper" both statements. A broken ankle at 40 years of age does not mend rapidly. At no age could a victim hope to pitch effectively again before midseason—if then.

As to appendicitis operations they frequently unfit athletes for an entire season. Jackson might play, as Helen Willis tried to do at tennis, following his operation last year. Doctors said it was all right for her to try. But she had to withdraw from the national championship and at no time during the season did she show anything like her true strength.

Manager Griffith and Manager McGraw will do well to bolster their respective teams to offset the loss of these two men. There are plenty of precedents to indicate that both stars will be out of the lineup for the part of the coming campaign.

Time to Mend.

ST. LOUIS national soccer championship candidates were held to a tie by a Chicago eleven in a semifinal cup game. Not often in history has a Chicago team at this season of the year been able to hold the American-born speedsters who represented this city.

Chicago eleven are showing better today partly because of the gradual strengthening of the visiting teams by means of imported talent, and partly because our own boys have stood still instead of progressing.

St. Louis soccer does not permit of promoters investing heavily in imported talent. The reality is that they do not justify it, also there are no purely sporting organizations here able to spend money for talent. Hence only local material is available.

Nevertheless, something could be done to strengthen St. Louis' play, which, in the "pro" leagues, is now very little above the level of municipal soccer.

Failure to improve passing and combination play has caused the St. Louisans to stand still. In one account of yesterday's game we read: "The Europeans far surpassed the local players in the art of passing."

Examine the story of every inter-city game played here and the same comment will be noted: "Why have managers taken no step to perfect our players in their own weakness? The Chicago team are tying us today. They'll pass us tomorrow, if no effort to improve is made."

The Odds Are Odd.

FUTURE book prices often fail to reflect correctly the merits of eligible titles in big races. For example, Whitney's Valorous today is quoted at 7 to 1 for the Kentucky Derby second choice in the local "big store." He was backed from 15 to 1 overnight.

That figure does not mean that Valorous is actually second choice in the opinion of professional handicappers. In this instance it means that the Whitney interests have put down a good sized bet on their entry and that the local book must carry him "short" in order to take in money on other candidates.

The aim of the future book maker is to arrange the play so that his book will show that he stands to pay out exactly the same amount, no matter which horse wins.

To keep bettors off a horse that is already heavily played, the bookie shortens the price on that entry and lengthens it on some other.

Valorous is a great three-year-old, however. Whitney horses always go to the post first for their derby efforts and the bookmaker.

That accounts for promotion interest. But it does not altogether explain how the public finds the money to feed the hoppers that devour such vast quantities of pay checks.

The fascination of betting seems to have befuddled many of us in the fact that a steady play against a percentage results in the annihilation of one's capital. But it's lots of fun, while the bankroll lasts—that's the fan's attitude.

STAMMERERS

The five principles of speech recently discovered by Clifford Close can give any stammerer a fluent, confident speech. This new idea has made successful Lawyers, Businessmen and Public Speakers out of stammering failures. In the remarkable story obtained in his first class in St. Louis, Mr. Close again proves that any stammerer, regardless of age, can learn to speak by this new method. A second class starts April 18th. Interviews given Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, 8:30 P. M., with an opportunity to meet the present students.

Morgans Win and Tie Municipal Soccer Series

Killarneys Ape Defeated, 2 to 1, After Missing Many Chances —Deciding Game Set for Wednesday Afternoon.

Surviving a determined attack on their goal in the first half, the Morgans took the situation in hand in the second period and scored enough goals to defeat the Killarneys, 2 to 1, and tie the municipal soccer championship series at one-all, yesterday at Fairgrounds. About 6000 witnessed the game.

Superintendent of Recreation Tapperson announced after the game that it would be necessary to schedule the deciding contest for Wednesday afternoon.

Managers of both contenders are opposing the week day date for the playoff but Tapperson stated this morning that he did not intend to change the schedule. The Kansas City champions, he said, are due to be here Sunday and if the third title game, played on Saturday, should result in a tie, the city would be without a champion eleven.

Already Put Off a Week. The Kansas City people have already been put off a week due to the tie in the second game of the series. Tapperson stated. The return contest at Kansas City a week from Sunday has been widely advertised, he said, and another postponement would seriously affect the success of the affair.

The complaint of the managers is that many of their players are mechanics who are paid as much as $14 a day. They would have to sacrifice at least half of this in order to be present, it is said. Others are office men and cannot get away from work.

The good work of Goalkeeper Sauer saved the Morgans a number of black marks in the first period. McCarthy, Brancorier and Bendat carried the ball into scoring position several times only to have their shots go wild or cleared by Sauer.

The Morgans scored the first goal of the game six minutes after the start of the second half. Goalkeeper Reidy stopped Hartchard's shot from the side dropped directly in front of the goal and in the resulting scrimmage, Hartigan rushed the ball across.

HELD AND BURNS LOSE TO MANION BROTHERS IN GOLF EXHIBITION

Jimmy Manion, Missouri champion, and his brother John, professional at Sunset Hill, defeated Reidy and Burns yesterday in a four-hole exhibition match at the Clubhouse. Reidy and Burns, both amateurs, were defeated 2 to 1. Reidy scored a 34 coming in while Reidy and Burns counted a 40.

ers therefore are fearful of what his candidates may do.

Scanning the derby history shows that few winter choices have made good. Bookies have made good prices on the makers, but they are, therefore, need not betaken too seriously.

Big Money. THE Fair Grounds race track at New Orleans is conservatively estimated to have handled $14,000,000 in the betting machines. Other estimates put the figure as high as $140,000 a day average, or more than $20,000,000.

Taking the lower figure, and accepting the club's statement that it takes out less than 7 per cent, the bed rock level of its betting "take" reaches nearly one million dollars.

Add to this the receipts from admissions at not less than $10,000 a day average, from concessions and other sources, and the income of this organization probably nears the $2,000,000 mark.

Operating expenses are heavy. It is true; but the profits for a two months meeting are still enormous.

The Betting Frenzy. THE rapid spread of horse and dog racing track promotion under the certificate method system reflects the mania for speculation now raging throughout the country.

Promoters, lured on by the huge profits, have been installing plants throughout the United States, despite the fact that betting is of the "bootleg" variety, in most states.

A dog track can pay itself out in 60 to 90 days. It is declared, if without competition. A horse track can pay back its stockholders dollar for dollar and build improvements in one season. It was shown at Fairmount race track.

That accounts for promotion interest. But it does not altogether explain how the public finds the money to feed the hoppers that devour such vast quantities of pay checks.

The fascination of betting seems to have befuddled many of us in the fact that a steady play against a percentage results in the annihilation of one's capital. But it's lots of fun, while the bankroll lasts—that's the fan's attitude.

Seven Owners to Back Heydler in Hornsby Tangle

National Meeting Called for Pittsburgh Thursday or Friday to Take Action.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 4.—President John A. Heydler today summoned National League club owners to meet this week in Pittsburgh, either Thursday or Friday, to unravel the Rogers Hornsby stock tangle. They will be asked by Heydler to support his ruling that the former pilot of the world champion Cardinals could not play championship ball for the New York Giants while holding 1147 shares of St. Louis club stock.

Heydler declined to disclose whether he had made progress in his efforts to effect a compromise between President Sam Breadon of the Cardinals and Hornsby on a selling price for the stock. Hornsby demands $105 a share. Breadon is quoted as willing to give $60, which is $15 more than the reported figure at which Rogers obtained his holdings.

President Heydler has received indications of support from every club president except Charles A. Stoneham of the New York Giants. The National League will attempt to do one of two things at its special meeting:

1. An attempt will be made to bring together Hornsby and a purchaser for the 1147 shares of St. Louis stock now held by the second baseman of the Cardinals.

2. Failing in this, the league is expected to go on record as opposing Hornsby's right to play ball with the Giants while he remains a shareholder of the Cardinals.

The latest word from John J. McGraw, manager of the Giants, is to the effect that the club is prepared to go to court to establish Hornsby's right to play with New York regardless of his private property.

ATLANTA, Ga., April 4.—The Cardinals got back one of their regulars but played without the services of another in their match with the Yankees here this afternoon.

Sarazen Beats
Hagen, 2-1, in 36-Hole Match

Gene Gains 3 Up Advantage Over Rival in First Half of Contest.

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., April 4.—The shots of Walter Hagen, usually disconcerting to any other professional, meant nothing to chunky Gene Sarazen, golfer, when the celebrated match play rivals stage their nip-and-tuck battles.
Gene again proved this yesterday when he whipped the professional champion for the fourth time in five battles, this time by two up and one to play in a 36-hole tussle on the Greenbrier links. And Gene won by outwitting Hagen from the work of the 28 times each called on wooden clubs, by matching iron shots through the fairways, and sinking sensational putts anywhere up to 45 feet when the "Hale" threatened a rally.
In the morning round of 18 holes, many of them around 380 yards in length and calling for two shots to the green, Sarazen played steady par golf while Hagen repeatedly missed bread and butter. Gene was five up at the end of the first eight holes and went to lunch with a margin of three.
Hagen discarded the fatal brassie in the afternoon and by sticking to his midiron, managed to even the match at the twenty-eighth hole. A birdie on the thirty-fifth hole the lead again. A 12-foot putt for another birdie. Hagen to make the half on the thirty-fifth, and when Sarazen dropped a 45-footer on a thirty-fourth green for another hole a stroke under par, he became dormie two. The match ended when they reached the thirty-fifth. The confidence Sarazen always carries into matches with the champion was increased yesterday by the soft turf of the course he favors. He outdrove Hagen an average of 23 yards, and on extremely long holes, his second ball usually found him 50 yards in front of Hagen. Sarazen won all three of the long-three-shot holes.
Hagen's sole victory in five matches came in the first round, when he beat Sarazen eight to seven in a 72-hole match in Florida. Sarazen won three earlier matches on greater New York courses, the last in 1923.

Fall River and Newark Advance

Reach Eastern Semifinals of National Soccer Cup Competition—Indiana Beaten.

NEW YORK, April 4.—Real progress was made in the national challenge soccer cup competition in the East yesterday, Fall River and Newark advancing to the semifinal round, Newark's conquest of Indiana flooring by a score of 2 to 1 was surprising to most followers of the game, but Newark has attained a strange distinction this season by beating the very best club, while losing frequently to comparatively weak teams.
Newark will oppose the winner of the Bethlehem-Boston game in a semifinal match.
At the conclusion of two regular 45-minute periods the Newark-Indiana game was tied at 1-1, but in the second overtime period McGowan tallied the winning goal on a pass from Drummond. Over 3000 persons watched the game.
At Fall River the home club had an easy time in beating Force River of Quincy, Mass., 5 to 0. About 6000 persons watched the game.
Boston repeated its performance of two years ago by winning the Lewis trophy, a special American Soccer League competition, by defeating Brooklyn yesterday, 2 to 0. About 8000 fans saw the game, played under ideal conditions, at Hawthorne Field, Brooklyn.

Vangilder Named to Hurl
For Browns in Game Here
With Cardinals Saturday

Big Righthander Has Allowed Only Four Runs in 28 Innings of Pitching in Spring Training Contests.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
FORT WORTH, Tex., April 4.—Elam Russell Vangilder, the big Cape Girardeau right hander, who has taken more interest in his work this spring than any previous campaign, since he has become a member of the St. Louis Browns, will be the club's pitcher in the opening game of the spring series with the world's champion Cardinals, Saturday.

This announcement was made today by Manager Dan Howley and ends speculation which has been going on for some time.
In previous outings against the Cardinals, Vangilder has had more than passing success. His work this spring, indicates that he will make a great try to keep up his good work against the National League.

4 Runs in 28 Innings.
The chances are that Elam will get his final workout before the spring series here in the final of the series with the Cardinals.
Vangilder has been one of the most effective pitchers on the Browns' staff this spring. He has hurled 28 innings and in that time he has been scored upon just four times. And all of those runs came in one game, the one in which he weakened in the ninth round while facing the Braves and was defeated by a 4-2 score. He has permitted 37 hits, walked seven and struck out a like number. Vangilder's last game, that against New Orleans, resulted in a shutout victory. Until he faced the Braves, he had not had 26 scoreless innings.

Ever since he has been with the Browns, Vangilder has relied almost entirely on a fast ball. He tried to "buzz" the ball past the batter. But under Dan Howley and Bill Killefer he has developed a change of pace and it has made a world of difference in his work.

Coach of Cicero High Five Never Played a Game

But His Team Last Week Won
National Scholastic Basketball Title.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, April 4.—The public and parochial high school basketball supremacy of the country rests today in the suburbs of Chicago. Morton High of Cicero won the final match of the ninth annual tournament from Batesville, Ark., Saturday night, 18 to 16, in the most exciting finish the annual interscholastic series has ever known.

Two weeks ago De la Salle High of Joliet won the national Catholic title.
The overageerness of the Arkansas champions contributed to their downfall. Cicero made but five field goals to seven for Batesville, but from the 17 fouls by Batesville the Cicero lads culled seven points with free throws. Murphy, the Batesville captain and back guard, went out on personal fouls near the close of the game, and Batesville's chances went with him.

The honors as runner-up to the finalists went to Florence, Miss., while fourth place went to Huron, S. D., the Mississippians defeating Huron, 19 to 16.
The Cicero champions included strains of five different nationalities.

"Stalled" Way Through.

The team "stalled" its way to the title, according to H. Karl Long, coach.
"Morton's five was not a well-drilled team," he said. "It couldn't have been. We only had two hours of practice weekly and only one game each week. As a result we had to adopt other methods. We had more reserve strength."

"Regarding the situation, the boys were drilled to get in the lead if possible and then stall out a victory. Our limited practice periods prevented working up many elusive plays, so we were forced to adopt the only method available and apparently our stalling gets results."

TITLE SWIMMING MEET
TO START TOMORROW

CHICAGO, April 4.—The four-day program of the National A. U. indoor men's swimming championship starting here tomorrow have drawn 235 entries, including nearly every title holder.

Seven teams have sent entries for both the 400-yard free style relay and the 300-yard medley relay.
Five water polo teams will play through elimination rounds for the national title, now held by the Chicago A. A. Cincinnati is sending a team of 10 to defend its team title in the nine events.

The 50-yard free style and the plunge for distance have been eliminated from the school field today. The only title holder missing from the competition is this year.

ATHLETE INJURED

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

Rhem, Last of Holdouts, Signs
One-Year Contract With Cards

President Breadon, in Making Announcement, Refuses to Make Public Terms of Document.

By Herman Wecke.
Charles Flint Rhem, 23-year-old right-hander, who won 20 games for the world champion Cardinals last season, has signed a one-year contract, it was announced this morning by Sam Breadon, president of the St. Louis Cardinals.

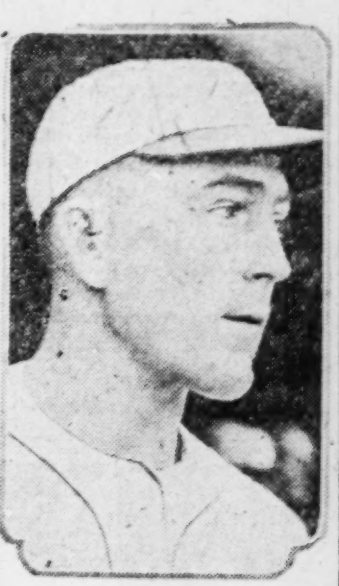

With Rhem in the fold, the roster of the club is complete, as the pitcher was the last of the "hold-outs." On what terms Rhem signed, following a conference with Vice President Branch Rickey at Atlanta yesterday, was not made known by Breadon.

However, it is certain that Rhem's salary for the 1927 season will be somewhere "between $7500 and $15,000." The $7500 was the last figure offered by the club and the one upon which Breadon announced the team "would stand pat." Rhem was equally emphatic in his statement that he would not sign for less than $15,000.

Although signed to a contract, Rhem will not make the barnstorming tour with the Cardinals in the series with the Yankees. After he signed his contract, he left Atlanta to go back to his home in Rhema, S. C., to straighten up his business affairs.

He is scheduled to join the world champions upon their return to St. Louis Friday, the day before the opening of the spring series with the Browns. When Rhem in the fold, Manager O'Farrell's pitching worries will be lessened. Rhem, as soon as he gets into condition, will become a member of the "Big Four." Right now, there are only two certain ones—Grover Cleveland Alexander, the 40-year-old right-hander, and Bill Sherdel, left-hander.

Jess Haines has improved, but he is not right. Jimmy Ring has been a "stubborn" hold-out and has been taking it easy at Rhema, S. C.
However, he is young, and that will help. He will not need the work of some of the veterans to get into condition. And when Flint's curve and his smokeball are working he's a hard man to beat, as any club in the National League will attest.

Pitcher Had Been Asking
$15,000, While Club Offered $7500 to Man Who Won 20 Games in 1926.

Reinhart has looked best.
Won 11 of His First 12.
However, the strong right arm of Charles Flint Rhem will be missed during the early part of the campaign. It was in the spring of 1926 that Rhem turned in his greatest exhibition. He won 11 of his first 12 games, and, with Howard Victor Keen, carried the club along until the sun started beating down on the arms of the veterans of the twirling staff.

But now Rhem has just signed eight days before the opening of the National League season, in which the Cardinals will face the Chicago Cubs at Chicago. Rhem will not be ready. Thus it is hardly likely that he will be able to win 11 games before June 1, as was the case in 1926. But Rhem is likely to come on later.

When Rhem will be able to take his regular turn on the hill will depend entirely upon how much work he has done while he has been a "stubborn" hold-out and has been taking it easy at Rhema, S. C.

However, he is young, and that will help. He will not need the work of some of the veterans to get into condition. And when Flint's curve and his smokeball are working he's a hard man to beat, as any club in the National League will attest.

FORMAL OPENING OF EXCHANGE'S NEW HOME

St. Louis Stock Board Host to Financiers at Fourth and Locust Streets Quarters.

The St. Louis Stock Exchange formally opened its new quarters at the northeast corner of Fourth and Locust streets today, being host to bankers, brokers and other financial interests who called to inspect the new home and extend greetings. They were welcomed by President William H. Bixby and other officers and directors of the exchange. No set program marked the occasion. There were no speeches. Visitors were able to watch the trading from the balcony and points down stairs outside the "floor" proper.

While the formal inauguration of trading in the new home took place today, sessions have been held there for two weeks. Removal from the Merchants' Exchange Building took place before the new quarters were completely put in shape. The exchange for some years was on the east side of Fourth street, not very far from the present location, moving from there to the Merchants' Building several years ago.

A feature of the new quarters is the balcony, which will accommodate over two-score visitors. The two previous homes did not have such accommodations for guests. The chairman's bench is on the south side of the hall.

How to Eat and Grow Thin Without Usual Tiresome Ordeal of Exercise

Avoid Danger of Using Thyroid Extract by Following a Balanced Diet Under the Direction of Physician.

Control Your Weight!

THIS is the sixth of a series of articles on "Control Your Weight," written by members of the Adult Weight Conference, called by officers of the American Medical Association. The papers are prepared with the editorial co-operation of the American Medical Association. Next Monday Dr. L. F. Barker, emeritus professor of medicine, Johns Hopkins University, will discuss "How Glands May Affect Body Weight."

By RUSSELL M. WILDER, M. D.
Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation, Rochester, Minn.

MANY people who would regard anyone as a candidate for the asylum if they heard him declare that a brick could fall upward, frequently themselves make statements just as contrary to natural laws.

I refer to those men and women who tell us in all sincerity that they "eat practically nothing at all" and still gain in weight. If that were true all the scientific books would have to be rewritten, for what has been considered the fundamental law of the conservation of energy would have been proven a myth.

Of course, this law is not a myth, such people either underestimate the amount of food they are eating or overrate the pounds they are gaining. The physicians and hygienists who have written papers for this series on weight control have emphasized repeatedly that the indiscriminate cutting down of the daily diet may be very injurious to health and everyone of authority is agreed that no one should attempt to reduce his weight by dieting without the help of a physician and the advice of a physician and after an examination of his heart, blood, nervous system and other organs. What follows in this article, therefore, is not intended to be taken as a formula for self-treatment, but may serve as a guide to those overweight people whose doctors have prescribed reducing by diet and who find it difficult or impossible to obtain results.

The Diet Law.

The natural law on which reducing diets are based is this: If less food fuel is taken in than is needed for the energy requirements of the body, the body will lose weight, because to make up the deficit it will burn up some of its own tissue.

Every living body is, in effect, a furnace. Fuel taken in, in the shape of food, is burned up (oxidized) to provide heat and energy for work. The fuel value of any food is measured by the amount of heat it will produce. These units of measurement are called calories. The number of calories required daily by any body thus depends on the amount of heat which the body is producing, and this varies greatly according to size, age, sex, general health, the state of nutrition, the amount of exercise being taken and the activity of a certain gland, the thyroid. Large people produce relatively more heat than small, children relatively more than grown people, and those who indulge in strenuous exercise more than those who don't. Heat production is much greater when the thyroid gland is overactive, as in certain forms of goiter, and much less in other forms, when the gland is underactive.

From these facts it may be seen that there are three ways to reduce weight: first, to raise the heat production of the body by taking exercise; second, to raise the heat production by taking more exercise; third, to reduce the supply of fuel fuel to a point below the energy needs of the body—in other words, dieting.

The Use of Thyroid.

The first of these methods, taking thyroid extract, is regarded by many as the quick and easy route to slenderness. The large majority of effective weight-reducing remedies contain thyroid, and the dangers attending their use are horrifying. My personal experience leads me to the conviction that thyroid medication is unnecessary for purposes of weight reduction and I practically never use it.

Exercise, while helpful if resorted to in moderation, can be so tedious and lead to unhealthful results. A further objection to such exercising is that the appetite is tremendously stimulated thereby, so that restricting the diet becomes an exquisite torture. Excessive exercising is a tedious ordeal for most persons and sooner or later is neglected. In the meanwhile the habit of eating a great deal has been formed, and this habit, as well as the appetite, continues long after the exercising has been given up, thus pound after pound is added to the weight and any reduction that has resulted from the exercising is overbalanced.

Quick Loss Dangerous.

To diet by reducing the food supply below the full requirement of the body will always reduce weight if persisted in for a long enough time. Temporarily an actual gain

Loss of more than one or two pounds a week is likely to be injurious to looks as well as to health.

In weight may occur, due to the retention of water by the tissues. A weight loss of more than one or two pounds a week should not be expected or desired, since to lose flesh too rapidly is likely to be injurious to looks as well as to health. The daily changes in weight during the reducing are largely due to water in the tissues and mean nothing; the weekly and the monthly changes are the ones that count.

In most cases it is helpful to plan for a diet rather rich in protein—that is, one including a liberal amount (about a pound daily) of lean meats, lean fish or lean fowl. This not only insures a sufficient supply of protein but increases the heat production to a certain extent. Furthermore, it gives a sense of fullness to the stomach and well-being which makes the other restrictions easier to bear. Such rich protein diets, however, will be injurious if the dieter has kidney disease or high blood pressure and should not be used if such conditions are detected by the physician's examination.

Milk Necessary.

Milk is a food particularly rich in vitamins and minerals, and the caloric value of a half pint of milk is not high. Indeed, a half pint of whole milk (unskimmed) is a necessary part of such restricted diets. It should be whole milk because the butter fat is desirable.

The green vegetables, such as lettuce, spinach, asparagus, endive, sauerkraut, cabbage, greens, chard, celery, tomato, cauliflower, eggplant and string beans, besides being rich purveyors of vitamins and minerals, are bulky and of low caloric value. They fill the stomach, help to satisfy the appetite and leave a residue in the bowels to prevent constipation. They may be used fresh or cooked. The modern commercial methods of canning provide them in a form that is at once palatable and rich in vitamins. An amount of these low caloric foods of not less than one pound a day should form the basis of all reducing diets; to this should be added not less than one-half pound of such fruits as oranges, grapefruit, strawberries, blackberries, peaches, pineapple or watermelon. It should be understood that no butter, flour, eggs, butter or other trimming can be added to these vegetables or fruits in preparation. The fruits may be obtained canned without sugar, provided the "water packed" can is specified. Vinegar, salt and pepper are with the food value. A mayonnaise dressing with little or no food value may be made with mineral oil as a base. Coffee and tea, taken clear, are without food value.

Ideal Combination.

The combination of these groups of foods—meat, milk, greens and fruit—comes as close to an ideal reduction diet as is possible. The calories will be low (about 1000 calories a day), the dynamic action will be high and the vitamins, minerals and bulk adequate. Nearly all other foods are so rich in calories that the use of them is prohibitive in a low reducing diet. This applies to all sweets, cereals, flour and breadstuffs made therefrom, eggs, most cheeses, cream and butter, fat meats, hard olive oil and other oil, except of course, mineral oil, which passes out of the body without being assimilated.

The many people who find it difficult to go without bread may find satisfaction in the bread substitutes which are now available. These are made from cellulose or washed bran and therefore have no food value. An objection to them is that they add bulk to the diet, whereas the diet I have suggested is already bulky enough. To reduce the fruit and vegetable allowance to make way for cellulose or bran, which lack the valuable food accessories

THE 2000 CALORY DIET AS FOUNDATION FOR DIETS OF HIGHER CALORY VALUES

Any of the 2000 Calory Diets already printed with this series of articles may be used as a foundation for diets of higher caloric value. Using them as foundations insures the needed amount of building materials and regulates the caloric value.

The calories needed in addition to the 2000 which these diets furnish for those who wish to increase weight may be obtained from almost any combination of foods desired. It is recommended, however, that the foods selected to supply the additional calories should not be too greatly limited to fats and sugars. A table of 100 calory portions will appear at the end of this series.

present in the vegetables, is unwise. It is also unwise to lose weight faster than two pounds a week. If the foregoing diet produces a greater loss than this, it should be supplemented by enough extra caloric-carrying food, such as bread and butter, to check the too rapid loss. Furthermore, it is well to let up for a while after every ten-pound loss and to hold the weight constant for a period of two weeks by the addition to the diet of enough extra food to accomplish this.

A physician must decide when sufficient reduction has been accomplished. It is probably unwise for anyone whose body build inclines to the obese type to reduce below the average weight for persons of their sex, height and age. To attempt further reduction than this in order to conform to style is to defeat the purpose of treatment. Obesity is unhealthy and its control is desirable, but undernutrition is probably equally injurious.

In summarizing, my suggestion comes to this: A pound of very lean meat or lean fish (calories 400 to 800), a pound and one-half of green vegetables and fruits (calories about 200) and a one-half pint glass of whole milk (170 calories) a day. The one-half pint of whole milk is essential. This represents the lowest caloric diet on which health can be maintained; it will be too low for many people. A physician should be consulted before attempting such a diet. A weight noted every week. A loss of more than two pounds a week demands extra calories of food,

POOR KITTY

By Angelo Patri

Angelo Patri is just the principal of a New York grade school, but the late Charles W. Eliot, president of Harvard, said Patri is doing more for common-school education than any other person in America. This school, a model in every respect, is a mecca for teachers from all parts of the country.

"I LIKE to have Bubble to play with a kitty. I think it will make him acquainted with animals. So many children have such fear of them. And it will teach him to be considerate of them, treat them kindly. So many people are so unkind to animals, don't you think?"

"They certainly are," said I with enthusiasm, remembering with indignation the man I saw beating a horse up a hill in a vain effort to make him haul up a load of wet wash that needed a motor truck with a giant motor. So hospitable. They certainly are. The way some people treat animals makes me want to do things to them."

"Exactly the way I think. Now, I'm going to teach Bubble to be kind to all animals, so I got him a kitty."

"I'm so glad," said I. And now I'm not glad at all. I'm very sad about it, and I hope that kitty is a good runner and that she will find the open to the street very soon. The cat lady will find her then and give her a good home or send her out of the world quickly. The way Bubble treats her would make even a nine-lived cat long for a speedy death.

He clutched that kitty by the neck and to my horror squealed with all his might. Of course, the cat struggled and scratched, but he held on until the cat got a hold on one of his arms and scratched with purpose and good will.

"How-wow!" yelled Bubble, and the kitty as fast as he could. She landed against the table legs, righted herself and took refuge under the davenport.

"Now, now, don't cry. It's a nasty kitty to scratch you like that. Come, Mamma fix," and mother cuddled the howling youngster and bathed his wounds. Not a word about the injured and abused kitty who lay under the protecting davenport and nursed its wounds.

That is not the way to teach a child to be kind to animals, now is it? Yet many a kitten and many a puppy suffer tortures because some mistaken adult thinks that a kitten is a toy or a puppy a playmate. It is advised, however, that the food selected should not be too greatly limited to fats and sugars.

Little children have no knowledge of pain. They have had no experience of it and so do not know what they are doing when they chase a kitty, hold a puppy up by his tail, poke fingers into eyes and pull ears and tails without mercy. They do not know that there is suffering and that they cause it. They must be taught.

Women Dispose

Of this new hygienic pad as easily as tissue—no laundry

By ELLEN J. HUCKLAND
Registered Nurse

COUNTLESS women have discarded old-time "sanitary" pads for a new and better way. A way that offers far greater protection. A way, too, that banishes the old-time problem of disposal. Eight in 10 better-class women now use "KOTEX."

Discards as easily as tissue. No laundry. No embarrassment. Five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads. Deodorizes, thus ending all danger of offending. Obtainable at all drug and department stores simply by saying "KOTEX." You ask for it without hesitancy.

Be sure to get the genuine. Only Kotex itself is "like Kotex." Proves old ways a needless risk. In fairness to yourself, try it.

Corned Beef Hash.
Corned beef hash, properly made, is a treat rather than a penalty for the helpless family. Take a can of corned beef, shred with a fork. Cube an equal amount of peeled potatoes and of boiled beets and slice the same quantity of onions. Mix and season with pepper. Turn into a shallow baking pan well greased with bacon drippings; if mixture seems too dry, add two or three tablespoons milk. Bake in oven 30 minutes. This hash is liable to stick, so care must be exercised in removing to platter. Sprinkle with minced parsley. Pass catsup or chili sauce.

Little Miss Malaprop

By Fay Stevenson

MISS MALAPROP owed a number of social debts. She decided to pay them back with one magnificent stroke—a marriage and tea.

With the help of several friends she made out a list of guests. bachelors, staid matrons, debutantes and a few professional world. It was a decided social event of the season with a hired butler and caterer.

Suddenly Miss Malaprop was spied. A celebrated opera singer was attending her reception. Malaprop loudly demanded a song from the famous song book.

There was a moment's silence. The air was tense. The singer flushed. Then she said, "I'm sorry, I have a cold today and my throat is sore."

It was Miss Malaprop's turn to flush now, for she realized that she and to her humiliation, that never asks a professional singer or actor to perform on the spot of the moment.

MISS MALAPROP owed a number of social debts. She decided to pay them back with one magnificent stroke—a reception and tea.

With the help of several friends she made out a list of eligible bachelors, maid matrons, gay debutantes and a few people in the professional world. It was to be a decided social event of the season with a hired butler and caterer.

At last the eventful day arrived. One of New York's prettiest ladies poured tea, several prominent older women stood beside the little hostess on the receiving line, and a paid singer had been engaged to thrill them all with her Spanish and French songs.

There was a moment's silence. The air was tense. The singer flushed. Then she said, "I'm sorry, I have a cold today," and shrugged her shoulders haughtily and left.

It was Miss Malaprop's turn to flush now, for she realized too late, and to her humiliation, that she never asks a professional singer or actor to perform on the spot of the moment.

THE WOMAN OF IT

By MARGUERITE MOOERS MARSHALL

No Ladies of the Jury!

GAIN the New York Legislature turns down a bill permitting women to serve on juries.

AND again THE WOMAN OF IT wonders which crowd is more foolish—

Women who are demanding the "privilege" of jury service.

Or men who are depriving them of that "privilege."

Cheerfully and swiftly we admit

The justice of all the arguments in favor of women on juries:

A jurywoman would be quite as intelligent as a jurymen.

She couldn't well be less so, to judge by our own court experience.

When we've visited a court room in order to write things.

We've hunted in vain for one gleam of intelligence in one face.

Belonging to the twelve good morons and true who sat in the jury box!

A jurywoman would reach a verdict as impartially as a jurymen.

She would be far less swayed by the good looks of the male defendant than are men by the charms of the poor, persecuted female defendant.

Men can get a thrill from the sight of a woman's ankle, on the witness stand.

Whereas, if a young man sat in court, with one foot resting on the opposite knee.

Women on the jury might reflect that it is indeed true.

That the modern collegiate youth wears no garters.

And that, really, somebody ought to tell this specimen.

To pull down the leg of his trousers!

A jurywoman would be eligible for service at least as frequently as a jurymen.

If there were about to be an addition to her family.

She would be excused.

But then, an about-to-be-a-father always asks to be let off.

And usually gets away with it.

As for various other excuses for exemption.

Women—at first, anyway—wouldn't offer nearly as many as men do.

Because women haven't had men's centuries of practice.

In preparation to the Judge!

Finally, the jurywoman has proved her value.

She is now serving on juries in twenty-two States.

Including our present State residence, New Jersey.

If women are jurors on one side of the Hudson.

(Although why expect men to be logical?)

Oh, yes, women have all the RIGHT in the world to be jurors.

But WHY have women the desire?

Ask any man if he thinks being on a jury is a treat.

Don't tell us that women want to sit on juries.

Because male juries do not give women justice.

It is to laugh!

No sentimental, soft-hearted, emotional jury of men ever sat in judgment on a female creature without giving her better than an even break!

But, though we can't see why women WANT to be jurors.

Neither can we see why men want to STOP them.

Since when the names of women go on the panels.

The names of men will be drawn about half as often.

And they'll be much more likely to escape being "stuck with jury duty."

You'd think they'd be GLAD to wish it on women.

And that women who now escape it.

Would know their luck!

The Newspaper Woman of It.

A woman of it: I am going to the New York Newspaper Women's Ball at the Ritz March 11.

Because I like newspaper women as a species.

After I became what is known as an author, I began to meet newspaper women and the more I met them the more I liked them.

They are all far, far brighter than I am, but I do not mind.

I feel it very good for me to associate with them. It draws me up to a higher plane. The very first newspaper woman I ever met looked me straight in the eye and discussed with me the decadence of religion. Or rather, she dis-

Milton Work's Bridge Pointers

THE pointer for today is: When answering the informationary double of a defensible partner, bid any four-card major in preference to even a stronger four-card minor.

The advice embodied in the above pointer is illustrated by the hand given yesterday. South bids one no trump. West doubles. North passes.

East holds: Sp: 8-x-x-x; H: A-x-x; D: A-Q-10-9; C: A-Q-10-9.

East has not the strength which would justify his even considering a business pass or a bid of two no trump; so it is clear that he must answer the double by bidding two of a suit. Generally when called upon to name a suit, the longest or, with equal length the strongest is the one to select. In this case the length of the two suits is the same, but there is great difference in their strength: the weak suit is a major and the strong suit is a minor. A defensible partner has not doubled without being prepared for, and indeed desirous of, an answer with a four-card major, no matter how weak it may be; that is one of the requirements of modern bridge. While it would be the limit of absurdity to think of bidding spades with this hand if the partner had not been heard from, it is wise to do so after a defensible partner has doubled one no trump. Game is much more apt to be produced by a major than by a minor. If, as is quite probable, the partner has four spades with strength, game is not out of reach at the major, but it almost surely would be at the minor. It always should be remembered that the major is one vital trick nearer the goal: the number of deals in which the best suit-bid for the combined hands can make 19 tricks but not 11, is amazingly large. Furthermore, in this case (if the doubler has spade strength and four spades) there is even greater difference than one trick. The high clubs in the East hand will help put over the spade contract, and the four-spade holding will be of material assistance as trumps; but if the contract should be of clubs, the spades would not be of much value. It may be stated generally that after a double by the partner a weak four-card major is at least two tricks nearer the goal of game than a strong four-card minor. The answer with the above hand should be two spades—not two clubs.

Suppose, however, that East held: Sp: 8-x-x-x; H: A-x-x; D: A-Q-10-9; C: A-Q-10-9.

What do you think he should do? Answer tomorrow.

Household Inventions.

Lack of noise and safeguards against overheating feature a new electric water heating device to be connected to a household supply.

Operated by clockwork when a spring is wound, a device has been invented to stir the contents of cooking utensils without attention.

Tests have shown that copper skewers run through roast result in quicker and more even cooking and juicier meats.

A latch key for a residence door forms part of a recently designed two-bladed pocket knife.

Its inventor has inserted a bottle opener in the handle of a kitchen spoon having a bowl perforated and formed so that it can be used for a number of purposes.

"He is right down there in that little pool."

Little black eyes were snapping with mischief.

"Then you must be blind," retorted Peter.

Tommy chuckled. "I see Ett the lizard."

Now, but I don't see any lizard," said he. "If you should ask him, he'd tell you right away that he isn't a lizard."

Just then the little stranger swam over and poked his head out of water. In fact, he started to crawl out. He was right in front of Peter.

"You are a lizard, aren't you?" cried Peter.

"The little stranger looked up at Peter. 'I'm not even related to the lizards,' said he. 'I'm a Triton or a Newt. Some people even call me the little Red Salamander.'"

"Oh!" said Peter, looking rather crestfallen and staring rudely.

Cottage Cheese Salad.

TAKE soft, yet firm, cottage cheese and add a little cream to it until soft enough to form into balls. Season with salt and a little cayenne pepper. Mix into some nut meat and one pimento (canned) cut up into little pieces. Form into balls, roll in finely chopped nut meat and serve on crisp lettuce leaves with mayonnaise dressing. A dash of paprika on each ball adds to both taste and appearance.

This simple daily rule for guarding their schoolgirl complexions

By NORMA SHEARER

THERE is no harm in rouge and powder, make-up of any kind, beauty experts today agree. But never fail to take them off each night at bedtime if you would avoid clogged pores and blackheads, other imperfections.

That schoolgirl complexion comes from one simple but important rule. And millions follow it each night in gaining clear and radiant skins.

Wash the face gently with Palmolive. Massage its balmy olive and palm oil lather into the skin. Rinse with warm water; then with cold. If your skin is inclined to be naturally dry, apply a little good cold cream. That is all—it's nature's rule for keeping that schoolgirl complexion.

But be sure you get the real Palmolive. A soap made solely for one purpose: to safeguard your skin. Sixty years of soap study stand behind it.

Get 10c Palmolive now. Use no other on your face. Experimenting with unproved soaps is a folly. Good complexions are too priceless for that. The Palmolive-Pet Co., Chicago, U. S. A.

The Diary of a New Father

Sunday night.
JOAN has not said one single word to me since last Thursday night on account of her not knowing whether to let her hair grow long or keep it bobbed, and although it is not very cheerful having a wife who will not talk to you, it would not be so bad if you could only tell what she was thinking, but you cannot tell what a woman thinks when she does talk, let alone when she does not talk, and she may be thinking all kinds of insults about you, but you cannot get mad until she says them out loud, and it is terrible to be under a handicap like that.

She is mad because she said she wanted to let her hair grow and I said all right, and then she said she believed she wanted to keep it bobbed after all and I said all right again, because I am nothing if not agreeable, and she said why didn't I try to help her, and pretty soon she was calling my family names and I was calling her family names and then she stopped speaking to me.

Married people pick on each other's families because insulting each other gets so tame and it does not seem to have much weight in an argument after the first few months of it.

It is all right for a wife to say things about her husband's family, but if he says things about her family he is a brute.

When you are single and your girl gets mad at you, it is bad enough, but there is something pretty about it because you always think of drowning in a lake with moonlight on it, and things like that, but when you are married and your wife gets mad at you, it is just misery because you do not want to drown any more, and you could not afford to, anyway, because you probably have not paid the last premium on your life insurance yet.

I might as well not have had Saturday afternoon off, because when I came home at noon Joan would not speak to me, and she put the baby to bed for a nap when I wanted to play with him.

When a wife is mad at her husband she tries to make him think his own baby should not have anything to do with him.

It has been three days since I have heard a word in my own home, and I must admit that calling Joan's family names does not do me much good, except that it makes me feel better at the time.

This afternoon I said, "Let's take the baby out for a ride in the car," but Joan did not say anything, and that is all the conversation we have had. So I thought, well, I will take a ride by myself, then, and I went out to the garage and tried to start the car, but it would not start, and I noticed that I had turned on the headlights instead of the ignition, and a man will do things like that when he is worried about conditions at home, and I had to carry the battery a block and a half to have it charged, and I almost broke my back because they make batteries so darn heavy, and I came home and I read the Sunday comics once more, just to cheer myself up, but they were not as funny as usual.

A NEW STORY OF LOVE, ADVENTURE AND MYSTERY

By HENRY C.

SYNOPSIS.

Granville Boyd, owner and navigator of the yacht Rigel, anchored in the harbor at Hamilton, Bermuda, is about to start on a semiscientific expedition around the world. He is accompanied by his sister, Carillon, and a party of scientists. Carillon meets Bengal Dodd, who has brought his yacht Gunga to Bermuda on her maiden cruise, and she asks Dodd to tag along with the Rigel. Obtaining Boyd's consent, Dodd asks Jim Howland and his daughter Gertrude to accompany him. As they are about to leave, a widow at one of the Hamilton hotels loses her jewels and Carillon is suspected of the theft. Bengal Dodd is a former District Attorney of New York and he decides to do everything in his power to help Carillon clear herself of the suspicion. He suspects Mrs. Ransome's maid, Irma, who formerly worked for Carillon.

INSTALLMENT IX.

AN EASY ALIBI.

BENGAL quickly decided on his next step. He believed his own personal efficiency in the case to have been negated by Boyd's thoughtless act, and it seemed to him, therefore, that the best he could do would be to report his findings and opinions on it up to date to the ranking police office of the island. As a result of his reasoning, Bengal had a tremendous respect for British methods of criminal procedure, particularly colonial. He mounted awkwardly and rode back into Hamilton.

Granville Boyd was pacing his quarter deck in a fuming state when a quartermaster reported the approach of the Gunga's gig—if a fisherman's dory may be thus dignified.

It was 10 o'clock of a black velvet night, relieved by a multitude of low hung stars. Carillon was molded into a wicker chaise longue, thrumming soft chords on a small guitar. The music may have jarred on her brother's nerves but he was in a repentant mood toward her, felt that he might not have been just and kind.

"Here comes your champion," he said, "Let's hope he hasn't bungled it."

"No fear. His thinks aren't awkward."

"Maybe not. Merely a trifle assured."

"He's in love with me. If you were in love with a girl would you like to see her locked in her stuffy cabin?"

"I'd rather see myself locked in a retreat for the feeble minded. Has he told you that he loves you?"

"No need. He's a man of thought and action. Talkers are apt to be devoid of both. I'll bet you he is not coming now to pass the time of night."

The dory close aboard stilled what might have been a cutting answer. Boyd, deliberate in his conclusions, had arrived at one that made Bengal a rather cheeky underling in his family affairs. Like most rich social recluses and a misogynist at 34, Boyd resented criticism and disliked advice. Moreover, he was much disturbed at something that had happened aboard during his absence and which, while partly Bengal's fault in requesting that Carillon be given the freedom of the vessel on parole, was still fundamentally the result of Boyd's act. The worried brother felt a flash imminent and was all set for it.

He had not long to wait. Bengal had come alone, and after a brief "Good evening" asked Boyd if he had interviewed Mrs. Ransome.

"No," Boyd answered, "but my sister has."

"Where and when?"

"This evening, just after dark, while Howland and I were waiting for her at the hotel. She and her draught maid went off alongside, in a shore boat. Carillon was on deck and saw fit to ask them aboard. She hasn't told me the result of the interview. Perhaps she may tell you, as her counsel in the case. And then again, perhaps she may not. You might ask her and see."

Bengal gave a short laugh. "And what," he asked of Carillon, "was the flaming idea?"

"O, that doesn't matter, Bungle" Carillon answered. She struck a chord on the guitar. "But if you will promise not to laugh I thought I might be able to convince her that I hadn't nicked her sparklers and persuade her not to make any charge against me and so delay our voyage."

"I didn't promise," Bengal said grimly. "It's funny as a funeral. Mine."

"Permit me to point out," said Boyd, on whom this badinage jarred, "that it really was none of your funeral to begin with."

"Also, Bungle dear," purred Carillon, "It's lucky you had your laugh first, like the Irishman who laughed at the bull before it leaped the fence and tossed him into a tree. Because she appeared to be convinced and promised not to take any further action against me."

Bengal shot her a quick look, then glanced at the foot of the chaise longue, but it was too dark under the awning to read the oscillograph. Carillon had told a new acting quartermaster to switch off the lights. Jansen had been disrated for disobedience to Boyd's order that nobody be permitted aboard in his absence.

"Mrs. Ransome is stalling," Bengal said.

"No, I don't think so, because a little later a police officer came alongside to inform us politely that he had received instructions from Mrs. Ransome that no charges in connection with the theft of her jewels were to be preferred against anybody aboard the yacht, and those already brought by the hotel detective would not have her sanction or support. So that we were free to leave the port whenever we saw fit."

Bengal turned this surprising information in his mind, then asked: "Do you mind telling me how you managed it?"

"I proved a very easy alibi that I had been holding out on all of you. When I went up to Mrs. Ransome's rooms with her we talked a while and then she decided to change her dress. She had shown me her jewels, then locked them in her trunk again, leaving the key in the lock. But I went with her into the boudoir to see the gowns she had bought in Paris, and then before she changed I said that I had better go out aboard to start things for my swimming party and tea. I did not go back into the salon. She remembered that. I went out by the door of the bedroom. She had also sensed enough to remember that before showing me the jewels she had bolted the salon door. I had to remind her of that, but she admitted it freely, and with no end of regrets and apologies."

"Then in whose disfavor were you cleared in her mind, if you can call it that?" Bengal asked disinterestedly. "Irma's?"

"No, because Irma came in as she was finishing her toilet. She told Irma to get her jewel case, and it was gone. Like most modern hotels of the sort, a number of rooms can be thrown on suite by double doors that are kept locked as desired. So the only possible explanation is that some expert sneak thief must have got into the one next Mrs. Ransome's salon, which is unoccupied, and picked the locks of the doors between, then slipped in and got the jewels while we were going over her gowns."

"Or that Irma might have done some swift legerdemain on learning that you had been up there with her," Bengal suggested.

"Mrs. Ransome was in there with her all the time, so far as I can gather," Carillon said. "I didn't like to get too detailed about that, since I was clear."

"And why," Bengal asked, "have you kept your brother and certain others in such great mental pain and agony when you had this alibi?"

"Because I wasn't sure that Mrs. Ransome would care to re-

"I proved a very easy alibi that I had been holding out on all of you."

member that she had bolted the door. For all I knew about her she might have been crooked, too."

Bengal turned to Boyd. "Your sister is a very courageous and self-contained young lady. But between us mere men, I don't think she's said the half of it. She kept her mouth shut because she resented our lack of faith in her word and respect for her common sense."

"Some of us have had those sentiments sorely strained," Boyd retorted with heat. "And why the plural pronoun? I thought you said you believed her."

"I lied," Bengal answered, calmly. "Not nobly nor even wholly. But there was a mental reservation. I believe in 'fessing up as I go along. At any rate, I think that it may have resulted in some service to Mrs. Ransome."

And he told them of his early evening reconnaissance. Boyd listened closely.

"That may have been the trick," he said. "Whether or not he was working with Irma remains to be discovered. At any rate we're out of it and the sooner we get out of here the better I'll be pleased."

"Then do we carry on as planned?" Bengal asked.

"We do, so far as I'm concerned."

"Check. Then let's get away tomorrow. I'll look for Rigel at Port au Prince, and if you get tired of waiting I'll take supplies and tag along to Colon. You might wait a few days for me there."

"Can do," Boyd's voice had a heartier tone. Oddly enough he liked Bengal the better for his frank avowal that he had not been so sure about Carillon. Any other man in love, Boyd felt, would have been loud in his "I-told-you-so's." But this one laid his cards on the table regardless of possible loss.

The Master.

YOU are the master, you are the lord, for no angel stands with a flaming sword to turn you away from that Paradise whither you wander with longing eyes. You are the master and you alone are lord of the realms you would call your own, for no fate has decreed that you shall not go into the regions your soul would know. Courage, then, and go swiftly on, as a man who has done to great things, who turns his face from the fears of night, journeying joyously into the light. You are the master, it rests with you to choose for your portion the false or the true; to pass, a king through life's splendid halls, or to creep, a slave, by its outmost walls.

April Showers.

NEW YORK.—To be thoroughly prepared for April showers, it is essential to have an umbrella which is bright enough to greet through tears. The newest rain shedders are of bright enough patterns to do this. Plaid are by no means absent from the designs and the handles, while stubby, are more carefully and artistically designed in wood, ivory or bakelite than ever before. Animal carvings predominate in the handle decorations.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

The Post-Dispatch reserves the right to reject any query. Personal and telephone calls or answers by mail cannot be given attention, except letters on medical questions of undoubted sincerity when accompanied by stamped addressed envelope.

K. A. M.—June 30, 1892, was a Thursday. The 1836 half dollar is worth about $3 if it has a milled edge.

A. C. E.—The Missouri Historical society can advise you of the value of the old document you possess.

ANXIOUS.—Dimes were not coined between 1813 and 1819 by the United States mints, according to a table of minted coins.

J. M. C.—If your 1859 and 1860 gold quarters are California heads and stars on them, they are worth about $150.

E. S. H.—You should inquire at the photograph studios listed in the classified section of the telephone directory for the information you desire.

MRS. H. P.—The only coin in your list that is of value is the 1852 quarter. If the quarter has no rays or arrows on it, the premium is about $5.

GRACE.—We cannot advise you where to send your short stories. Any magazine that publishes stories similar to your stories might take them. Have your stories double-spaced, typed on white manuscript paper, using only one side and leaving wide margins. You should be sure that your spelling, grammar and punctuation are correct, that your address is on the cover sheet and that you include enough material to make arrests, many of them.

LEGAL INFORMATION

(By a Member of the St. Louis Bar Association)

A READER.—The police in St. Louis, as well as police officers elsewhere in the State, can arrest on reasonable suspicion, without a warrant. If they had to wait for a warrant to make arrests, many criminals would escape. This is the common law rule.

JACK T.—If the trust company selling first mortgage real estate serial notes failed you would still have the notes and the security of the deed of trust to fall back on. (2) You do not have to accept payment on the notes before the payments are due.

SUBSCRIBER.—As Louisiana has a system of community property and special laws governing the inheritance of property that is quite different from the systems of other states we cannot advise you. You should write to a Louisiana lawyer for information.

CONSTANT READER.—The man who left the state to avoid arrest for non-payment of alimony and

MEDICAL QUESTIONS

Health and sanitation questions of public interest will not be considered. Diagnosis or treatment of individual cases will not be given.

WORRIED SISTER.—If, as you state, your sister is doing well and suffering in no way as the result of suspended menstruation, there is no occasion for anxiety or worry, as such is by no means unusual and in time will correct itself.

POST-DISPATCH READER.—An unusual vaginal discharge would cause dizziness and other alarming symptoms. A case of gonorrhea should be given immediate treatment if the general health is beginning to be affected.

MARIE.—The only remedy for reducing enlarged joints of the feet is by surgical methods and when such is done by capable and experienced experts in this line of practice there is practically no danger. For advice and proper

The Beauty Shop

By Frances Olivier

She came in all wind-swept, her eyes tearing involuntarily and her cheeks looking sort of dappled.

VISITOR.—Even real beauties have their pet seasons, I suppose. Mine is summer, and for every June day that this mad climate or ours substitutes for a December or January day I am deeply grateful. So far this month—and it is the worst one of the year for me—I have been awfully out of luck, however.

I hate having to say that my skin is so sensitive. I simply cannot walk a single block in winter. It would be much better to be one of these hardy women who stand down my taxi-bills!

But, do see for yourself! Don't I look just like a speckled trout? I certainly wish I was one of those camella-skinned creatures who look so beautifully aloof from the effects of heat or cold. Is there, alas, any hope at all for such a perfect weathercock of a face as mine?

BEAUTY SPECIALIST.—There is no hope of giving it the camella texture, you know that, but by properly protecting it against biting winds and bitter cold, we can give it a very great deal toward keeping it a nice, even, two-toned skin. To begin with, this rebellious complexion must be handled gently. Never should it be harshly rubbed, especially in cold weather.

For washing with soap and water and then plunging straight into the windy outdoors, that sort of thing merits a blotchy, weathered face.

If you are one of those people who "does not feel clean" without a soap and water face bath at least once a day, then do arrange to take the bath at least an hour before you venture out into March winds.

And to make assurance doubly sure, put on a layer of cream mandarin of power between your skin and the cruel elements. An excellent habit this, whether you wash with water or no, and one which is the "secret" of many a weatherproof skin my dear.

Your face-cleaning you will do with some thin-textured cream, which you have found agreeable, simply with sweet almond oil to of attar of roses or bergamot. Smooth the perfume oil lightly over the face and neck, pat it into the skin gently with the fingertips and wipe it away with a very soft towel, cleansing tissue paper, or absorbent cotton.

For alternate cleanings, try a very weak solution of witch hazel on pads of absorbent cotton.

HOLIDAY FOR 6000
EMPLOYEES OF CITY

Election Is for President and Half the Members of Board of Aldermen, for School Directors.

The flags that waved in the breens outside the precinct polling places today appeared to be about all that was stirring in the quiet off-year election.

A poll of selected precincts at 10 a. m., seven hours after the voting day began, showed an average of 44 votes to a precinct, or about 27,500 votes throughout the city.
The polls will be open until 1 p. m.
The 6000 city employees, who get a holiday, are all expected to vote, as are the 2744 precinct election officials. The Election Board expects a total vote not much larger than 75,000 out of the registration of 265,844.

Today's election is for the choice of one-half of the Board of Aldermen, representing the even-numbered wards. Second to Twenty-fourth, the President of the board, and one-third of the Board of Education, or four members.
Seven charter amendments, intended to expedite public improvement work, are also on the ballot.

Little Campaigning Done.
Twelve present members of the Board of Aldermen are running for re-election on the Republican ticket, as is the president of the board, Walter J. G. Neun. In the Second Ward the incumbent failed of re-nomination, and in the Fourteenth there was a vacancy.

No active campaign has been made for the Democratic ticket, which is headed by F. J. Curran, for President of the Board of Aldermen. Two women candidates on this ticket, Mrs. W. F. Wilkinson of the Twenty-fourth Ward and Miss Lora Otto of the Twenty-eighth, have sought to enlist the support of women voters.

Members of the Board of Aldermen for all wards are elected by city-wide vote. The voting is by the blanket ballot system, with a system of cross-marks within circles and squares, and no scratching of candidates' names.

Ten to school Board Race.
Ten candidates are running for the four places on the Board of Education. Those having the indorsement of the Citizens' School Board Committee are Miss Eleanor Horton, Myrt A. Rollins, Dr. D. C.
Toll and Arthur S. Werremeyer.
The cross-mark system is used in voting for Board of Education candidates, and not more than four may be so marked. Names on the Board of Education ticket are not to be scratched. Some school organizations, in communications to voters, have urged them to "scratch" some candidates, but this was a technical error.

KILLS WIFE, GO, BECAUSE SHE HAD TOO MANY MEN FRIENDS
Former Ironworker in New York
Said to Have Admitted Beating Mate With Hammer.

NEW YORK, April 5.—Edward DeMars, 58 years old, a former ironworker, has confessed, police say, he murdered his wife, Helen, 69, in their home by striking her in the back of the head three times with a hammer. His reported confession followed hours of questioning.

Mrs. DeMars' body was found yesterday afternoon on a bed. The only marks on her body were two abrasions on the back of her skull.
Both her stockings, in which she kept money, had been ripped open.
Detectives said: DeMars told them he killed his wife because she was "drinking and had too many men friends." After killing his wife DeMars threw the hammer in an ash barrel.

Grant Log Cabin to Be Returned. to the Associated Press COLUMBUS, O., April 5.—The little log cabin in which Gen. U.
S. Grant was born at Point Pleasant, O., would be returned to its original location after more than 60 years of wandering about the country, under a bill passed by the Ohio House of Representatives.

For many years the cabin has been one of the attractions at the Ohio State Fair. It was moved from Point Pleasant in 1885 to St. Louis where it was displayed and later taken to the World's Fair in Chicago in 1893. The Ohio Senate is expected to approve the House measure.
